HINDENBURG IS RECEIVED WITH POMP IN BERLIN

Arrives in Capital to Take Oath of Office Tomorrow as President of Germany.

Hands Forbidden to Play Old Marches

Police Also Prohibit Three Communist Open-Air Demonstrations—Aerial Patrols on Guard.

Associated Press.

BERLIN, May 11.—Field Marshal von Hindenburg, who will be inaugurated tomorrow as President of Germany, arrived at the train station here late this afternoon from Hanover.

The previously announced program for the reception of Gen. Hindenburg and his drive to the chancellery Palace was carried out without a hitch.

In keeping with his request, the president-elect left Hanover with military honors. He entered the city there through a side gate, unaccompanied, and boarded a special car.

Cable to the Post-Dispatch and New York World.

May 11.—The Press and Public Opinion Co. (New York World and Post-Dispatch).

BERLIN, May 11.—President von Hindenburg enters Berlin with all the pomp of a Teutonic Emperor of old. The German Nationalists perfected a triumphal welcome staging in its own honor. Whole streets of the city were cut off to accommodate the half-million admirers of the old Marshal.

The Nationalists have decreed that the red, white and black flag of the republic be spread over the city and that the members of the republic and its allegiance to the red, black and gold of republicanism.

There will be no Republicanism in the procession, for the Reichsmen have refused to greet him as he enters the city.

They announced they would see if von Hindenburg were a Republican before they honored him as leader of the republic.

The communists have issued a declaration for a general strike in honor of the president-elect since the days of the war the Kaiser has one man named Hindenburg. Stopping just outside the city, he was met by Chancellor Luther, Gen. von Hindenburg and all the important members of the Government. Then he was escorted to an open automobile to ride six miles through the city lined with enthusiasts to the chancellery palace.

Police precautions against the red youths were instructed to use rubber blackjacks for possible disturbances with communists. The police have issued sweeping orders forbidding the monarchist demonstrators from having their own parades. "Fredericus" or any other stirring march music of the days of the Kaiser power. They also have provided for the communists and their supporters from staging the monster open-air demonstration.

MARIE, A PYTHON 12 FEET LONG, IS GUEST AT ZOO

Weight 55 Pounds Before Lunch, and Is Not Poisonous.

"Marie," who comes from India and is a python, and 12 feet long at that, will be on exhibition in the Zoological Garden at Forest Park this week for the edification of those who like snakes, and those who don't.

"Marie" is slender and could wear a 15-inch belt. If pythons were belts, she weighs 55 pounds before lunch. Her meals consist of live birds and warm-blooded animals. Vierheller assures the public that this python is nonpoisonous and kills her prey by the more humane method of crushing. When angry, she "cracks the whip" with her lengthy body.

The python is a guest at the Zoo, through a courtesy loan by Philip Evans, 4725 Washington boulevard, a newspaper reporter, who received it from a friend. A python of the same species, but 4 feet longer, was recently acquired by the London Zoo.

RUSSIAN EMBASSY OFFICIAL AT PARIS IS RECALLED

M. Voline, First Secretary, Alleged to Have Participated in Communist Demonstration.

PARIS, May 11.—M. Voline, first secretary of the Russian Embassy here, has been recalled. It was announced today, as a result of protests made by the French Foreign Office at Voline's alleged participation in a communist demonstration at Paris.

As has been told in special cables to the Post-Dispatch, Voline recently addressed a meeting which ostensibly was a memorial service for Dr. Sun Yat-sen, but which police said was a gathering in the interest of the spread of communism.

HONOR BABY IN FIELD OF 10,000

13-Month-Old Girl Awarded $500 Prize in Competition at Chicago.

CHICAGO, May 11.—Betty Louise O'Hara, 13-month-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas O'Hara of Chicago, today was winner of the grand prize of the national baby contest and health exposition. Little Betty scored 84.5, the highest of any child between 1 and 6 years, and was presented a check for $500 by Mr. William A. Dever, wife of Chicago's Mayor. Betty's father is foreman of an oil company.

NEGOTIATIONS ON FOR SETTLEMENT OF FRENCH DEBT

State Department Confirms Report That Informal Conversations With Paris Are Under Way.

NO FORMAL NOTE SENT BY AMERICA

American Government Is Still Opposed to Conditioning Settlement on German Reparations Payments.

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, May 11.—Informal conversations relative to a French debt settlement are again in progress, it was disclosed today at the State Department.

Confirming the fact of negotiations for the first time, the department reiterated that the Washington Government had sent no formal communication on the question to France.

Department officials would not enlarge on their statement confirming reports that intermittent informal conversations on the debt question had been in progress from time to time. They refused to indicate in any way the nature of developments of the last few days.

The statement that the discussion was "again in progress" was taken as a reference to the rumored dispatch to Ambassador Herriek last week of instructions believed to outline the suggestions he was asked to lay before French officials in conversations he might have with them.

There was nothing to indicate that these instructions include any definite project as to terms of settlement, or that they marked any change in the policy of the Washington Government as to the form of settlement.

No Change of Front.

It was said flatly that the Washington Government had not changed front on the question of accepting an assignment of German reparations payments by France in working out a debt settlement. It is understood that this question has been frequently raised and that the Washington Government has always held that any settlement reached with France must be in harmony with the basic condition of the refunding agreement with Great Britain.

That condition is that settlements are not made contingent upon any outside question as to where the funds are to be obtained by the debtor nation for meeting its obligations.

Developments today on the French debt question did not disclose that any advance had been made toward acceptance by the two governments of a definite proposal advanced by either side as the basis for negotiations. Apparently neither government has put forward a statement that could be used for this purpose, both taking the position that the other should take the first step.

LARGE STORES OF LIQUOR HIDDEN ON ATLANTIC COAST

These, for Some Time, Will Avert Aridity Due to Stringent Blockade of Rum Fleet.

COAST GUARD HAS AMPLE RESERVES

Blockade Has Ended Golden Day of Rum Row and Watch Will Continue Indefinitely.

Capt. Samuel Taylor Moore, contributor to the New York World and other publications, is the best qualified writer on the subject of the coast guard's campaign against rum row by reason of experience. Capt. Moore has followed the progressive development of the blockade from its inception in a congressional appropriation of $12,000,000 in the winter of 1921. He has had an unusual opportunity to study the problem from the decks of various ships of the blockading fleet, and by reason of acquaintance among the admirals of the rum-running navy. His opinion here expressed is based on intimate knowledge of the situation in all of its various aspects.

NEW YORK, May 11.—The Atlantic seaboard institution of Rum Row is a case for the Coroner.

Rum Row doesn't yet realize the fact it has probably would refuse to admit it if it did. In four years of prosperous activity owners of the rum supply fleet operating on the high seas between Cape May, N. J., and Cape Ann, Mass., had come to regard themselves as a vested interest. Wherefore some 30 booze-laden steamships and schooners stubbornly remain at anchor outside the Government's jurisdiction, while hundreds of rum-running speed boats are set up in port awaiting a let-down in the tactics of the United States coast guard.

The dry blockade is generally hailed as an "offensive." As a military term it is accurate for an offensive is a movement that spends its force in major effort. The peaceful picketing of every individual supply ship on Rum Row is in fact the inauguration of a systematic campaign of indefinite duration to check liquor smuggling at its source. It can be ended only by the unlikely cessation of congressional appropriations after July 1, 1926.

Admiral Concealed Plan.

Operation of the watching methods has merely awaited sufficient patrol boats and men to man them. Unless the coast guard fleet suffers major casualties, there are enough reserve boats to carry on the watch in relays for as many supply ships as have anchored on the row at one period in the last nine months.

Rear Admiral F. C. Billard, commandant of the coast guard, conceived the present strategy a year ago. It has since been the progress of the construction program.

Unforeseeable flaws may develop. Among the hundreds of new coast guardmen on land and sea—the personnel has been doubled—were many spies of the liquor smugglers.

The taint of corruption has appeared. It will doubtless break out afresh sporadically. The new boats may fall to render the full performance expected or prove less seaworthy than the designers intended. But despite such imperfections, for all practical purposes the blockade will be effective in the fullest sense of the word. The rum-running navy of high-speed boats is as obsolete as wooden frigates in modern naval organizations. Enforced idleness will soon reduce them to junk value. The supply ships on the row will be forced to return to home ports with cargoes intact, unless lacking sufficient supplies, they are obliged to surrender to the coast guard.

Such are the facts. Yet the obvious will not be accepted. When proper resignation or good grace by the liquor interests. There is too much wealth, brains and political power in the bootlegging industry to take defeat without a struggle. Wealth may aid brains in devising new methods of liquor smuggling.

BOUNTY PAID ON 'WOLF' SKIN SHOWS HOW FRITZ DIED

Missing German Police Dog at Salem, Mo., Was Killed by Road Worker.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

SALEM, Mo., May 11.—Fritz von Wagner, the only German police dog between Salem and the head of Current River, is no more. His reign was brief, but his glory great. He had overawed all the dogs in town, and his owner, James Coffman, had outbested all the dogs' masters, but, alas—poor Fritz von Wagner!

A road worker awhile back saw an animal long and gray, with pointed ears, slink under a culvert not far from town. "It's a wolf!" said he, and got his shotgun. Presently his old 10-gauge roared, the animal gave one leap and died. The road worker skinned his prey, and proceeded to the courthouse, where the County Clerk paid him $6 wolf bounty and punched holes through the ears in the conventional manner. Then he auctioned off the hide to Pet Tene, a local speculator.

Pet shipped the pelt to a St. Louis fur house, labeling it, "Wolf skin." A few days later a letter came saying, "That was a dog hide." Meanwhile, Coffman had been searching everywhere for Fritz von Wagner. The dog had gnawed his rope one night and departed. Fritz's owner and Pet Tene met in front of the postoffice just like actors in a play.

"That must have been Fritz's skin," said Pet. "Reckon so," said Coffman.

COUNTRESS DE KERNINON GETS 8 YEARS FOR KILLING HUSBAND

French Music Hall Artist Assail Judge's Allusion to Former Cafe Singer's Career.

Copyright, 1925, by the Press and Public Opinion Co. (New York World and Post-Dispatch).

PARIS, May 11.—Music-hall artists throughout France are aroused over the slur cast on their profession by the judge presiding in the court at St. Brieux, Brittany, where the Countess de Kerninon was convicted yesterday of murdering her husband and sentenced to eight years in prison.

Before her marriage the Countess sang at Algerian cafe concerts, and it was in one of the music halls that she and her husband, the dashing cavalry officer, Count Roger de Kerninon.

Judge Marlinier, in questioning her, alluded thus to this phase of her career: "You sang in low dives and concert halls. Was it worthy of you thus to make your living by prostitution?"

In vain the Countess protested that she earned enough by singing to keep herself honestly. The judge said: "Besides, you lacked talent altogether."

Two Paris editors, Gustave Terry of the Oeuvre and Alfred Oulman of the Petit Bleu, take up the matter.

The latter, after calling Judge Marlinier's words an intolerable outrage, calls on Minister of Justice Steeg to remind Marlinier that he is the spokesman of society and the representative of justice, and, therefore, constrained to greater reserve in expressing personal opinions and tastes.

EDWARD DILLON HERE ON DAY OF KILLING, MAN SAYS

News Vendor Asserts He Spoke to Youth in Candy Store on Afternoon of April 30.

YOUTH, HELD SINCE FRIDAY, RELEASED

Served With Subpoena to Appear at Inquest to Be Reopened by Coroner Tomorrow.

George Barth, 29 years old, of 3820 Washington boulevard, who has sold papers for eight years at Delmar boulevard and Hamilton avenue, said today to a Post-Dispatch reporter that he saw Edward George Dillon about 2 p. m. April 30, or a few hours before the murder of young Dillon's father, Dr. William A. Dillon, in St. Louis with a .38-caliber bullet.

Barth's statement is the first definite declaration placing the 19-year-old youth in St. Louis on or near the date of the murder. Young Dillon has refused, in his questioning by city detectives and county officials, to tell where he was between Monday or Tuesday, April 27 or 28, when he left his boarding house in Lawrence, Kan., and his reappearance there in the morning of Friday, May 1.

A maid employed in the home of young Dillon's mother, Mrs. Anna H. Dillon, divorced wife of the late Dr. Dillon, at 726 Heman avenue, University City, was under questioning at Clayton today, as to whether she had seen the young man at or near his home on or near April 30.

Youth Is Released.

Dillon was released from Clayton Jail at 9:40 a. m. today, in anticipation of an application, by his lawyers, for a writ of habeas corpus for his release. The lawyers promised that he would be at the inquest tomorrow. He had been held in jail for two 26-hour detention periods since his arrest Friday, and since last evening he was held by the Coroner's order.

Barth said today that he remembered the day when he saw young Dillon, from the fact that he recalled it the next day, on reading of the murder of the young man's father. He placed the time, 2 p. m., from the fact that he, as a news vendor, had his copy of the city edition of the Post-Dispatch.

"I went into the candy store at the northeast corner of Delmar and Hamilton, to get a light," the paper vendor said. "I saw young Dillon buying cigarettes and I said, 'What the hell are you doing here?' 'Oh, I blew in for a couple of days,' he said.

"You going to school here now?" I asked him. 'No,' he said. 'I'm going to school up in Kansas City.' I thought he said Kansas City, but he may just have said Kansas.

"Known Dillon Five Years."

"I have known Dillon five years, the way I know a good many of the young student crowd. I didn't see him with the other boys much, since that Barnett affair of a year ago."

The Barnett affair was the killing by a city detective, of George Wesley Barnett, after Barnett and a companion had committed four highway robberies. Young Dillon was arrested on suspicion of being the other robber and a warrant issued for his arrest.

Barth, when he told his story Saturday to Prosecuting Attorney Mueller and Detective Sergeant Martineau, was asked to go into the jail and see Dillon, but he replied that it was unnecessary, as he was certain that he knew Dillon. He communicated his information to the police as soon as he learned of Dillon's arrest.

Other New Testimony.

Other new testimony, to the effect that two slender men, one or both wearing light topcoats, were seen at the Pennsylvania avenue gate of Francis Field about 11 p. m. April 30, has been obtained by the city detectives and county authorities. Francis Field, the Washington University athletic inclosure, was the apparent scene of the murder. Dr. Dillon's body having been

SALES MADE ON DAY BEFORE MURDER, SAY KANSAS MERCHANTS

Loan Shop Owner Asserts Youth, With Whom He Had Previously Dealt, Purchased .38 Caliber Weapon—Clerk Supports Story.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

LAWRENCE, Kan., May 11.—Abe Wolfson, clothing and loan shop proprietor here, said today that he sold Edward George Dillon a .38-caliber revolver between 9 and 10 a. m. Wednesday, April 29, the day before the murder of his father, Dr. William A. Dillon, in St. Louis with a .38-caliber bullet.

On the same day, the Post-Dispatch correspondent learned, cartridges of a size to fit the revolver sold by Wolfson, and identified in make and marking with the unexploded cartridge found near Dr. Dillon's body, were bought by a young man at Green Brothers' hardware store which is next door to Wolfson's shop. The proprietor and clerk of the hardware store were unable to identify a photograph of Dillon, which Wolfson had previously identified as that of his customer.

Knew Dillon by Name.

Wolfson said he knew Dillon by name, and exhibited two pawn tickets with Dillon's signature, representing two occasions on which Dillon pawned his wardrobe trunk with Wolfson. He had sold Dillon a .32-caliber Colt's automatic pistol some time before April 9, and he says Dillon told him, in buying the revolver, that the pistol had been stolen from him. Wolfson, on seeing Dillon's photograph, said, "That's the boy," and his clerk, Ralph Bergman, also remembered the sale of the revolver.

Wolfson said he sold no cartridges with the revolver, as he had cartridges of that size only in a German make, and Dillon wanted American-made shells. He said the revolver, of Spanish make, had stamped on it "38 long," indicating that cartridges of that description must be used in it.

The cartridges sold by the Green hardware store were ".38 long," and had the imprint "W. R. A. Co." (Winchester Repeating Arms Co.). The cartridge found near Dr. Dillon's body had the same make, and the nose of the cartridge, according to the St. Louis police, weighed the same as the bullet taken from Dr. Dillon's head.

"Other Deals With Him."

"This swell-dressed, good-looking boy came into my store the 29th," Wolfson said to the Post-Dispatch correspondent. "I knew him from my other deals with him. He told me he wanted to buy a good revolver."

"He said he was working for a local chapter of a fraternity (Lawrence is the seat of Kansas University, where Dillon was a student until March 7), and that he had to take money to Kansas City, Kan., to the headquarters of the fraternity. He said he sometimes carried $400 on these automobile trips to Kansas City, so that he needed a gun for protection."

"I sold him the .38 revolver, and he wanted to be sure it was a good gun. I told him it was, and if he wanted to return it later, I would give him an allowance on it. I made a notation on the sale slip, that I would give him an allowance on another gun, if that one was returned in good shape."

"Showed Him Some Shells."

"We went over to the other side of the store to get cartridges, and I showed him some special .38 shells of German make. He said, 'No, I want American-made shells,' and he did not buy any cartridges from me."

The number of the revolver, Wolfson said, was 14174, and it was a new weapon bought by him from a Spanish importing firm at 52 Warren street, New York. The sale price was $26, and he said Dillon paid him $10 bills from what appeared to be a good-sized roll.

Wolfson's previous transactions with Dillon, he said, were over Dillon's Swiss watch, on which Wolfson refused to make a loan, and

REVOLVER CLEW IMPORTANT, SAYS THE PROSECUTOR

Prosecuting Attorney Mueller, when informed by the Post-Dispatch at Clayton today of the Lawrence dealer's statement that Edward Dillon bought a .38-caliber revolver from him on the day before Dr. Dillon's murder, said: "This is the first concrete bit of evidence that we have. It is very important. I do not think it is wise to rearrange the boy. His attorneys have seen him and I am sure that if he did not talk before he would not talk now."

Inquest Witness Tomorrow.

"He will have to go on the witness stand at the inquest tomorrow and the only way he can continue his attitude is by standing on his constitutional rights, and saying that he does not wish to testify for fear of incriminating himself."

"If the Sheriff wants to rearrest him on this new evidence he can do so. However, I will not advise the Sheriff to do so, as I believe it is within his province."

Chief Deputy Sheriff Dodd said he would get in touch immediately with the Lawrence dealer and the latter's assistant. Meanwhile, he said, he did not regard it as necessary to have young Dillon in actual custody, pointing out the youth is under subpoena for the inquest. "I regard this as an important piece of evidence," he added.

To Subpoena Two Kansans.

Later Deputy Sheriff Dodd said the Lawrence men would be subpoenaed as inquest witnesses, and that the inquest would be held open to permit their arrival here.

Coroner Bopp, upon hearing of the statements from Lawrence, hastened from his Kirkwood office to Clayton to confer with the Prosecuting Attorney and Sheriff. Mrs. Anna H. Dillon of 726 Heman avenue, University City, mother of Edward Dillon, when informed by a Post-Dispatch reporter of the Lawrence dealer's statement that her son had purchased a revolver from him April 29, said: "I have nothing to say." She refused to permit the reporter to ask her son for a statement about this, or about his presence at the Muehlebach Hotel in Kansas City. Her son, only a few minutes before, had returned home from Clayton

ROBBERS TAKE TWO CARS FROM DRIVERS

Couple Held Up on Riverview Drive, Man and Girl in Fairground Park.

Motorists in two instances were held up and robbed of their possessions, including their automobiles early yesterday morning.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Wolff of 2009 Osage street, returning to the city along the Riverview Drive, were halted by two robbers, who jumped on the running board and ordered the occupants into the rear seat. The robbers then drove the car about six miles into the country and ordered the couple to get out first forcing Wolff to surrender his car and a watch and Mrs. Wolff her purse, containing change. The robbers also took the victims' hats and drove away. The car, with the hats inside, was recovered in the city.

Francis J. Furlong of 1716 Longfellow place, accompanied by a young woman, was halted in Fairground Park by two armed robbers. They were ordered out of the car, and Furlong robbed of $5. The car was not recovered.

A lone armed robber entered the T. and L. Restaurant at 1729 Market street, about 3:15 a. m., today, and commanded the single waitress on duty to keep quiet, while he rifled the cash register of $25 and ran out.

Thomas Hanley, 21 years old, of 419 Wash street, reported that six men, whom he described as foreigners, assaulted and beat him at Sixth and Wash streets, about 9 o'clock, last night, and robbed him of 40 cents.

The locker room in the armory of Battery A, at Grand boulevard and Rutger street, was entered some time over Sunday. Six regulation army automatic pistols, each valued at $45, were reported stolen.

MEXICO HONORS WOMAN

SLAIN IN MAY DAY PARADE

Big Procession Follows Her Casket to Cemetery and Labor Leaders Deliver Addresses of Honor.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

MEXICO CITY.—The name of Miss Guadalupe Rangel has been placed side by side in the records of the Mexican Labor party with those of the Haymarket riot victims in Chicago as a martyr to the cause of the proletariat.

Miss Rangel was killed during the minor disturbances while she was parading here May day.

Her casket was followed to the cemetery by a big procession composed of representatives of all the unions affiliated with the Mexican regional confederation of labor.

The casket was covered with a black banner until it was lowered into the grave.

The labor leaders delivered addresses in her honor.

Miss Rangel's name has now been added to those of persons who have given their lives to the cause of labor," said one of the speakers. Mention was made of numerous Mexican, American and international laborers who had been killed by traitors' bullets or knives while promulgating labor ideals.

ELLER ADMITS CONTROL OF JOBS

Difficult to Abolish the System in Vogue in Past, Mayor Declares in City Club Speech.

PRICE AND QUALITY GO INTO DISCARD

Names Public for Lack of Interest in Selection of Officials and Proper Support After Election.

Mayor Miller discussed criticism leveled against government in a speech at noon today before the City Club, and while some of his remarks were difficult to hear, he made a better understanding of its problems by citizens "make criticism less severe."

The Mayor indicated that he had the heavy hand of pressure in the matter of "job seekers" and was seeking to retain the ones who were good.

He said that in the political service was considered as a basis for awarding jobs, and added significantly that the Mayor was difficult to abolish.

Efforts to alter this condition, said, are met with storms of protest raised by those interested, and the general public, approving the Mayor's position, is not likely to make criticism less severe.

Some Criticisms Well Founded.

"One of the most universal criticisms apparently is criticism of government—its failure to do what it is supposed to do, or its failure to do what the people desire to be done," he said. "Some of the criticism is just warranted by the facts, but if the citizens really understand the obstacles confronting them in charge of government, they will be more lenient."

Much of the time it is difficult for those in charge of government to reply to these criticisms because some of them are well founded.

The people and the press have entered for a business administration. That we should have a business administration of government is not a new thing. Those who have been in charge of government have been justly denigrated. Those who have been in charge of government have been justly denigrated.

There are many reasons for the most prominent of which is the lack of interest in the part of the citizen in the selection of officials and the lack of support on the part after officials have been elected.

The influence and actions of citizens at large are just as essential to good government as the actions of public officials in charge of government. It must be admitted that the general public sentiment is for efficient and economic government. However, that sentiment is not expressed in the activity and fury as the sentiment against inefficient and extravagant government.

Rewards for Political Support.

"I am taking myself to the limit," he said, "in my efforts to make the government more efficient and economical. I have a sincere desire to make the government more efficient and economical. I have a sincere desire to make the government more efficient and economical."

There are many obstacles which confront this desire and determination. There are many obstacles which confront this desire and determination. There are many obstacles which confront this desire and determination.

Many Applicants Unfilled.

"I find it very difficult to make the Mayor has under our charter at his disposal, and that if he removes any person he must replace him in fact by appointing a new one."

Many of the applicants for positions apparently do not realize their unfitness to hold the positions which seek.

Several Rum Ships Appear Off Chesapeake Bay.

NEW YORK, May 11.—Several rum ships have appeared off the coast of Chesapeake Bay. The coast guard, which has taken precautions in this section, has not been able to identify any of the newcomers as having been in business off New York.

On Deck of Typical Rum Runner Off New Jersey Coast

RUM SHIP OFFERS 100 CASES OF WHISKY FOR 100 GALLONS OF WATER

NEW YORK, May 11.—HAT the plight of the rum runner is due more to lack of supplies than lack of customers is indicated in a statement from the commander of the rum chaser No. 203 which has come into Staten Island for a three-day relief from patrol duty. The officer said that the crew of a big rum ship offered him 100 cases of whisky for 100 gallons of water. He refused, but said the rum ship was still off shore when he departed.

gling. There is no doubt in the minds of coast guard officers but that ingenious plans for surreptitious importation of liquor will be conceived and executed successfully. New tactics will be devised to meet such contingencies as they are discovered.

The demise of Rum Row by no means solves the prohibition question along the Eastern seaboard. The abrupt halting of coast-line rum-running activities should not be reflected to consumers for some time. All along the coast and in places, some still will be steaming as never before. Overland rum running by truck from the Canadian border will revert to its prominence in 1921 before Rum Row established more accessible bases off shore. Automobile trucks and small boats will be used to smuggle imported liquors. It may be higher in price, but it should not be scarce for the present unless it is hoarded.

No Personal Animus.

Enforcement of the prohibition laws regarding liquor smuggling is merely an added duty in the long list of ruin and misery which the government has to bear. There is no personal animus in the campaign only as a coast guardman has been deceived into an ambush and slain by rum runners or when other rough tactics have been employed.

Off duty there is probably as much drinking among the coast guard personnel as there is in any other body of men of similar size. They are all quite human. But they were given the job of arresting liquor smugglers as an impossible task when other Government agencies evaded it and stepped out from under. It was a challenge to the corps. They accepted it in that spirit. They will carry on in the same way.

The golden days of liquor smuggling from Rum Row are ended. Rum Row may move out 50 or 100 miles from shore and the patrol boats will follow to guard them. Long-distance-from-shore bases will handicap operations from land even if they stood a chance of being successful.

The plan has been expensive. The cost will run into millions. With the stimulating excitement of chasing ended the work will become deadly routine for the coast guardmen. But it will be effective. That fact cannot be denied.

Rumanian Conservative Leader Dies.

BUCHAREST, Rumania, May 11.—Alexander Marghiloman, leader of the conservative party and one of the most noteworthy figures in Rumanian political life, is dead. He suffered a political eclipse after the war because he had opposed Rumania's entry on the side of the allies, and because he headed the temporary government which concluded the alleged premature peace with Germany. He belonged to the class of great land owners which was almost entirely dispossessed by the post war agrarian reforms.

STRANGE GARB BETRAYS THREE FLEEING BOYS

Two Caught and Returned to House of Detention—Other Still at Large.

Vincent Cloonan, 16 years old, has been in the House of Detention so often, he says, that he now carries a small hacksaw in his shoe so he may release himself whenever he is incarcerated. As Cloonan was placed in the House of Detention the other day he put his saw to good use. Saturday night and escaped, taking Uranus Hoffman, 17, and George Love, 16 with him.

Cloonan gained exit by saving a window lock. Then he and the others tied several sheets together, in approved cinema fashion, and let themselves down from a third floor window. But, once freed, they were attired only in House of Detention night clothes in which one would be noticeable walking the streets, so they searched about the vicinity and found on a clothes line a pair of overalls, a woman's black apron and something they presumed to be a sheet.

Cloonan put on the overalls, Hoffman the apron and Love the sheet, and they paraded up Market street. About the time they arrived at Market and Twenty-third streets, Detective Sergeant Cooper and Detective Kennard happened also to arrive. The officers looked, passed their hands before their eyes and looked again. Then they decided they really were seeing a boy in overalls that were so big they almost swallowed him up, a boy in a burlap apron which he was having great difficulty in controlling, and a boy evidently impersonating a Roman senator.

The officers thought this bizarre sight a bit too exotic for Market street, and the officers gave chase. But the boys saw them coming. They made for an alley and up the alley they went. Cloonan, impeded in flight by the amplitude of his overalls, was the first to be taken prisoner. A few steps further, Hoffman, unable longer to control the folds of his burlap apron, fell a victim to the law. But Love and his sheet, now appearing far less dignified than they had a few moments before, proceeded up Pine street at great speed. He outdistanced the police and his toga were last seen boarding a Jefferson avenue street car.

Cloonan and Hoffman are now at Police Headquarters. They deny trying to do anything but the well-dressed man should wear. They contend their dress was only an effort to look like anybody else.

DR. LUTHER LITTLE OFFERED SECOND BAPTIST PASTORATE

Will Arrive From Charlotte, N. C., Wednesday When He Will Make Decision.

The Second Baptist Church, Kingshighway and Washington boulevard, has invited to the pastorate, to succeed the Rev. Dr. W. C. Bittling, who retired Jan. 1 after 20 years' pastorate, the Rev. Dr. Luther Little, for the last seven years pastor of a Baptist Church at Charlotte, N. C. He is expected to arrive in St. Louis Wednesday and will meet the congregation at the Wednesday evening prayer meeting service. Afterward he will give a decision as to acceptance of the invitation.

DR. LITTLE IS CONSIDERED one of the foremost pastors in the denomination. He received his ministerial education at the Baptist Theological College in Louisville, Ky. His first pastorate was that of the First Baptist Church at Port Worth, Tex. Then followed a short period in which he was pastor in Jackson, Tenn., which he left to become minister in Seattle, Wash.

He returned to the Jackson, Tenn., pastorate, which he held five years. During his stay in Jackson he became acquainted with the late Joseph W. Folk, former Missouri Governor, and Mrs. Folk, Jackson being their former home. Gov. and Mrs. Folk, during their residence in St. Louis, were members of the Second Baptist Church, and the invitation to Dr. Little to come here is attributed to Mrs. Folk's suggestion. Mrs. Folk, who now lives in Washington, is expected to visit St. Louis shortly.

HERBERT QUICK, NOVELIST, DIES AT COLUMBIA, MO.

Stricken After Addressing Banquet at Close of Journalism Week at Columbia.

COLUMBIA, Mo., May 11.—Herbert Quick, novelist and agricultural editor, died here yesterday at the Parker Memorial Hospital of heart disease. He was stricken last Friday after delivering an address at a dinner which concluded journalism week at the University of Missouri. Mrs. Quick, who was summoned, will accompany the body to their home in Berkeley Springs, W. Va.

Quick wrote a number of novels and at various times edited agricultural publications. He was 64 years old. He turned to literary work after the age of 40, giving up a legal business and political career in Iowa. He served a term as Mayor of Sioux City, during the Wilson administration he was a member of the Federal Farm Loan Board.

Attempt to Kill Calles.

MEXICO CITY, May 11.—Charged with having made several attempts to reach President Calles to kill him, Maria Luisa Jauregui was arrested yesterday and was said to have confessed. She was sent to an insane asylum. On May day, it is stated, she tried to get near the President while he was attending a festival at a stadium. She carried a revolver hidden in a bouquet.

Fatally Burned Playing With Matches.

CAIRO, Ill., May 11.—Frank Stewart Jr., 23 years old, was burned to death last night when playing with matches.

NAMES ALLEGED 'BOSS' OF LIQUOR RUNNERS

St. Louisan Tells Illinois Police J. E. Phillips Hired Him to Drive Loads.

DANVILLE, Ill., May 11.—James E. Phillips, 26 years old, of Louisville, Ky., alleged "boss" of mid-western liquor running operations, who was arrested at Marshall Saturday, is being questioned by the police today in an effort to have him turn Government witness. He was caught after a 20-mile chase from Paris, where police say he abandoned an automobile load of liquor which he admitted was being taken from Chicago to Louisville, to be disposed of to the crowds gathering there for the Derby this week.

At Marshall, Phillips was confronted with James Sader, 18, of St. Louis, who, the police say, admits running liquor and who was captured at Marshall Friday with an automobile load of whisky. According to the police, Sader declares Phillips was the man who had employed him to drive automobile loads of liquor between St. Louis and Chicago.

Phillips, the police say, claims to know all about the shooting at Floyd Washburn, also known as a month ago. Phillips says Washburn, a liquor runner, was shot because he didn't divide up fairly with his partners in the business. Washburn was later kidnapped from a Paris hospital and taken to St. Louis, his former home. He was arrested there, however, almost as soon as he arrived and is now in a St. Louis hospital under guard.

MAN, 'GUNNING' IN FEDERAL BUILDING, IS ARRESTED

Christ Lambrecht Overpowered in Struggle and Disarmed—Held for Observation.

Acting upon information that a man was "gunning" for Assistant District Attorney Stanner, Department of Justice operatives arrested Christ Lambrecht of 6066 Hancock avenue, on the third floor of the Federal Building shortly after noon today. After putting up a determined fight, the man was subdued and handcuffed and a .25-caliber revolver was taken from him. He will be sent to the City Hospital for observation.

For two or three weeks there had been reports that a man with a fabled grudge against the District Attorney's office was trying to "get" some one there, and detectives were posted about the place Thursday Friday. The man did not appear. Today, however, when he stepped into an elevator near the Eighth street door, he was recognized as the loiterer by George Pesselman, elevator operator. As Lambrecht stepped off at the third floor landing, Pesselman called John Lynch, secret service man, and the intruder was seized.

NEGRO SLAIN IN QUARREL IN HOME; WIFE HELD

A domestic quarrel between Guile Johnson, 20 years old, a negro, and his wife, Susie, 21, in their home at 2249 Walnut street, shortly after last midnight terminated in the husband being shot and killed. The wife was arrested. Before his death at city hospital at 2:30 a. m., the negro related that his wife obtained a revolver out of a dresser drawer and started shooting before he could get out of the way. After the first shots, he rolled under the bed. The woman reloaded the revolver, he said, and fired more shots. The negro was wounded in the abdomen, neck, shoulder, leg and foot.

DOCTORS' LICENSE HEARINGS RESUMED

State Board Exonerates One Physician, Takes Several Cases Under Advisement.

The State Board of Health, meeting at the Municipal Courts Building, today resumed hearings in cases of physicians charged with obtaining licenses by fraud.

The first case, that of Dr. Cyril H. Rogers, 3232 Lafayette avenue, was taken under advisement after testimony by the defendant, the only witness who is charged in a complaint filed by Dr. Joseph R. Sintzel, former secretary of the College of Physicians and Surgeons here, with obtaining a license to practice in July, 1918, on fraudulent representations that he had attended Illinois University and a Chicago medical college in addition to spending the year 1917-18 at P. and S. The Chicago Institutions, which Dr. Rogers insists he attended, were the Hannibal Medical College and the Chicago Hospital College of Medicine.

One Physician Exonerated.

Dr. Loren A. Glasco of White-water, Mo., charged in a complaint by Dr. Sintzel with obtaining a license in 1917 by fraud, was exonerated when he convinced the board he actually had attended the Physicians and Surgeons' College at Keosauqua, Ia., prior to coming to P. and S. here, where he graduated in 1916.

Dr. Glasco testified that he took his first examination for a license in 1911 and failed, after which he worked as janitor and attendant at various institutions, including the Marine Hospital and the City Sanitarium here. In 1914, he was fitted in Camden County for practicing without a license, he admitted. About the time he was examined for a license, since then, he said, he has practiced at Brentwood, St. Louis County, has served as a State Health officer at Hermitage, Mo., and served two years as coroner of Hickory County.

The next case heard was that of Dr. Alonzo G. Hobbs of St. Louis charged in a complaint by Dr. Sintzel with obtaining a license in March, 1923 on fraudulent representations that he had attended P. and S. here for four years, when, in fact, he had been there three years. Dr. Clarence L. Hobbs, a brother, will be heard later.

POLICE TRAIL ODOR OF MASH TO LIQUOR PLANT

Alcoholic fumes sweeping across their precincts caused Sgt. McCullough and Patrolman Clark of the Mounted District to forsake their automobile and follow their noses to a cottage at 5225 Elizabeth avenue, at 2:45 a. m. today.

As they opened a door an Italian dashed out. The policemen grabbed him by the coat but he kept on going, leaving his coat in the hands of the law. The policemen fired several shots over his head but he kept on going, running so fast that he lost his right shoe. He escaped.

Inside, the police found two concrete vats, 14x14x12, which, they estimated, contained 25,000 gallons of whisky mash. Two fire pots were ready, indicating a "traveling still" was expected soon, to put the mash to work.

Equipment Is Confiscated.

The escaped man's coat contained a letter in Italian. His overcoat was found with obtaining a license in 1917 by fraud, was exonerated when he convinced the board he actually had attended the Physicians and Surgeons' College at Keosauqua, Ia., prior to coming to P. and S. here, where he graduated in 1916.

DRIVER IN AUTO DEATH ORDERED HELD

Inquest Verdict of Criminal Carelessness in Case of Joseph Losciuto.

A verdict of criminal carelessness, holding Daniel Sherman, 29 years old, of 1123 Biddle street, to the grand jury, was returned by a coroner's jury at the inquest today into the death of Joseph Losciuto, 64 years old, a push-cart fruit vendor, who was run down by a truck operated by Sherman.

Losciuto, who lived at 929 North Ninth street, was pushing his cart north along "Commission Row" on North Third street, about 3 a. m. Saturday, when he was struck from behind by the truck. Two witnesses, one of whom was riding on the truck, testified it was raining, and that the fruit vendor, making his way through the heavy traffic, pushed his cart in the path of the automobile.

Losciuto was knocked under his cart, and at City Hospital was found to have suffered several fractured ribs and internal injuries. He died yesterday.

The death was the sixty-second this year attributable to automobile accidents. At this time last year there were 68 such deaths.

Shenandoah avenue, yesterday noon, was run down by an automobile delivery truck, operated by Elmer Kelly of 1925 Armstrong avenue.

At St. John's Hospital, the child was found to have suffered a fracture of the left jaw and three fractured ribs. The driver said the girl ran into the path of the automobile. He was arrested and released on bond.

Raymond F. Pierson, 23, of 2224 South Broadway, was thrown to the street, when the automobile in which he was riding with a companion, collided with another automobile at Ninth street and Russell boulevard, about 2:30 o'clock last night. At city hospital, he was treated for lacerations of the head.

The driver of a Ford automobile, occupied by two unidentified men, fled after striking a motor cycle and side car, operated by Elbridge Williams, 34, a negro, 3223 Pine boulevard, with Addie Cochran, 23, of the same address as a passenger, at Jefferson avenue and Market street, about 7:30 o'clock last night.

The motor cycle was knocked across the sidewalk, striking Mrs. Leona Clark, 34, a negro, of 24 South Ewing avenue. At city hospital No. 2, she was found to have suffered a fractured left hip and right leg. The Cochran woman suffered fractured ribs and internal injuries. Williams was cut and bruised.

MILNER'S CONDITION SERIOUS
English Physicians Unable to Explain Sleeping Sickness Epidemic.
LONDON, May 11.—The condition of Viscount Milner, former Secretary of War, who is ill with sleeping sickness, still is serious. The medical profession is unable to explain the sudden appearance of the epidemic of sleeping sickness which is reported to have attacked several hundred persons throughout the British Isles.

It is unusual for the disease to appear at this time of the year, the physicians say, and never before had it been known to any great extent in these islands. The epidemic thus far has caused no fatality.

Owners of Kimball Pianos!

How Old Is Your Kimball? If It Is the Oldest Within 100 Miles of St. Louis You May Exchange It for This New Kimball Grand!

€ This handsome Kimball Apartment Grand, style 29, is finished in Adam brown mahogany. It embodies all the qualities which have made Kimball a leading name in the musical world—and it regularly sells for $1445. We will give the instrument in exchange for the oldest Kimball within 100 miles of St. Louis. The oldest Kimball must be owned by the original purchaser or the original purchaser's family—and it must be entered before May 21, in a letter giving its style, serial number, when, where and by whom purchased. All data, etc., will be verified at the Kimball factory.

Kimball Pianos—the choice of the St. Louis Municipal Theater Association and countless artists—are sold here exclusively in St. Louis.

POLICEMEN TO BE TREATED AT CITY HOSPITAL IN FUTURE
Police Board Economy Measure Not Applicable to Emergency Cases.
Police officers injured while on duty otherwise, unless in a critical condition, will be sent to City Hospital in the future for treatment instead of being taken to private hospitals, as has been the practice, the Police Board has ordered.
It has been the custom of the board to pay the bills at the private hospitals and advantage has been taken of this fact for almost ever since its inception. The board held the City Hospital is a "very" institution and a policeman will be afforded just as efficient treatment and care there as at any private hospital and there will be no bill attached. So the move is regarded as an economy measure.
However, an emergency case is not included in the order. The nearest hospital then is to be used.

Woman Doctor Injures Son
St. Louis, May 10. — While swinging a golf ball yesterday, Mrs. Wm. Winkler struck her 10-year-old son, Albert, on the forehead, fracturing his skull. An operation was performed and physicians announced that his life would probably be saved. Mrs. Winkler was practicing a stroke when a golf ball hit the back of her head, she brought her club down on her son's forehead.

STANDING OF LAMBERT FIELD TO BE RAISED
Flying Club Plans Regulations Along Military Lines — Meeting Tonight.
Changes in the government of Lambert-St. Louis Flying Field, designed to raise even higher its standing among aviation centers in the country, will result from the annual business meeting of the Flying Club of St. Louis at the University Club this evening.
In addition to the usual nomination of officers and directors of the club, and of a board of control for the St. Louis Aeronautic Corporation, which owns the field, there will be nominated an advisory committee of prominent business and professional men to consult with the club on matters of policy.
Under the new plans, enforcement of regulations on the field will be directed by the commanding officer of the 110th Observation Squadron of the Thirty-fifth Division, which is quartered at the field. The present commanding officer is Capt. W. H. Leininger. The field, generally rated the best among civilian fields, will thus approach the excellence of military fields, it is hoped.
The Flying Club will have charge of buildings on the field, regulate parking, maintain water, oil and gasoline supplies, and will inspect planes and pass on the qualifications of pilots, with authority to bar either in the interest of safety.
The St. Louis Aeronautic Corporation, which will become affiliated with the National Aeronautic Association, will supervise the government.
J. D. W. Lambert for President. J. D. W. Lambert will be nominated for president of the club, the nomination being equivalent to election. In a statement on the importance of the field, he pointed out that two commercial airplane companies are established there, that 25 civilian pilots make it their headquarters, that the Flying Club clubhouse is there, and that the Federal and State Governments have spent $150,000 on the 110th Squadron's establishment.
Nominations, equivalent to election, will be reported this evening as follows:
Officers of the Flying Club: J. D. W. Lambert, president; Randall Foster, vice president; Harold M. Bixby, treasurer; and F. R. Meyer, secretary.
Board of directors of club: Lambert, Foster, Meyer, Bixby, Preston Sultan, W. Christy Evans, Albert T. Perkins, Carl F. Meyer, J. A. Reardon, H. L. Kuchins, F. H. Schubert and Homer Ziegler.
New Board of Control. St. Louis Aeronautic Association: W. Frank Carter, R. F. Bush, J. L. Johnston, W. Palmer Clarkson, Joseph Pulitzer, Albert T. Perkins, John G. Lonsdale, Carl F. Meyer, Albert Bond Lambert, M. E. Singleton and Aaron Waldheim.
Advisory board: Albert Bond Lambert, A. L. Shapleigh, H. J. Pottinger, Edward A. Faust, Daniel G. Taylor, George P. Morris, N. A. McMillan, Edward B. Messner, Thomas C. Hennrich, Paul E. Kewell Jr., Harry B. Scullin, Fred B. Eisenman, F. W. A. Vesper and Birch O. Mahaffey.

Auto Speeds Away After Collision
A large touring model automobile, which two policemen who chanced to be standing at the corner, saw speeding at 50 mph, struck and wrecked an automobile parked in front of 2549 Kosciusko street, about 8:20 p. m. last night. Momentarily checked by the impact, the driver put on speed and disappeared north in Kosciusko avenue, before the policeman could halt it. The wrecked automobile was owned by James B. Corrigan of 1297 North Union boulevard.

Under the new plans, enforcement of regulations on the field will be directed by the commanding officer of the 110th Observation Squadron of the Thirty-fifth Division, which is quartered at the field. The present commanding officer is Capt. W. H. Leininger. The field, generally rated the best among civilian fields, will thus approach the excellence of military fields, it is hoped.

Officers of the Flying Club: J. D. W. Lambert, president; Randall Foster, vice president; Harold M. Bixby, treasurer; and F. R. Meyer, secretary.

ADVERTISEMENT
SODA PUTS MORE GAS IN STOMACH
When Stomach Is Sour or Acid, Soda Increases Acidity.

Yes, soda does temporarily relieve sour, acid stomach, but soda afterwards causes the stomach to secrete more acids and gases than before, making matters worse.
Prove this for yourself. Place in a glass of water a little vinegar or lemon juice. This represents the acid in your stomach. Then add a pinch of baking soda (bicarbonate of soda) and instantly thousands of bubbles of gas are formed. This same thing happens in your stomach when you take soda for sour stomach. Gas is rapidly formed and the bloating, belching, shortness of breath and palpitation are increased, leaving your stomach in a more acid condition than before.
Now make this same test with "Phillips Milk of Magnesia." No gases are formed—no bubbles at all. Instead of soda hereafter take a little "Phillips Milk of Magnesia" in water any time for indigestion or sour, acid, gassy stomach and relief will come instantly.
For fifty years genuine "Phillips Milk of Magnesia" has been prescribed by physicians because it overcomes three times as much acid in the stomach as soda, leaving the stomach sweet and free from all gases. Besides, it is more pleasant to take. Insist upon "Phillips." Twenty-five cent bottles, any drug store.

INFANT DEATH RATE HIGHER AMONG BOYS

Variation in Mortality Explainable Only by Higher Vitality of Baby Girls.

WASHINGTON, May 11.—A one-fourth higher death rate among baby boys than girls before the first year of age is reported by the Children's Bureau as one of the facts established in the most comprehensive study of infant mortality it has yet made in furtherance of its efforts to reduce the rate in the United States. The variation in the sexes was said to be explainable only by a difference in natal vitality.

The health records within their first year of 22,000 babies in eight states were studied as a basis for the report, which cited that most recent statistics indicate that 137,000 infants under one year die in this country annually and that 93,000 of these fail to survive the first month. The cities in which the studies were conducted, in co-operation with local health authorities, were Johnstown, Pa.; Manchester, N. H.; Brockton, Mass.; Saginaw, Mich.; New Bedford, Mass.; Watertown, Conn.; Akron, O.; and Baltimore, Md.

Prenatal and natal causes, with the mother's health as a controlling factor, were said to have accounted for 28.1 per cent of the deaths in the cases studied, with gastric and intestinal diseases causing 22.4 per cent; respiratory diseases, 19.5 per cent; and epidemic and other communicable diseases, 7.1 per cent. Other deductions from the study were that the mortality among exclusively artificially fed babies was "three or four times" greater than that of first-born children, have a slightly higher mortality than second-born, and that the mother's age did not have any "marked influence" on the rate, except in the case of the first-born.

In the racial classification, which the report stressed as revealing important factors in mortality, Jewish babies were shown to be the healthiest. The order of increase in the death rate was given as "native white, German, Italian, colored, Polish, French-Canadian and Portuguese."

"Irrespective of all other factors," the report said, "it was discovered that the infant death rate varied inversely with the earnings of the father."

Zaenne Flight Delayed by Soviet.
By the Associated Press.
BUENOS AIRES, May 11.—The committee which has in charge the world flight of the Argentine aviator, Maj. Pedro Zaenne, announces that his flight from Japan across the Pacific may be delayed owing to failure to obtain permission from the Soviet Government for him to land at Petropavlovsk, Kamchatka. A cable dispatch from Argentine Minister in Paris, who is conducting negotiations with the Soviet Government, says the efforts to secure authorization for Zaenne to touch Soviet soil thus far have been unsuccessful. The message adds that the action of the Russian authorities probably is due to absence of normal relations between the Argentine and Russian Governments.

U. S. WARSHIPS AT ANCHOR OFF LANAI
Number of American warships ever assembled in the Pacific—Gathered Near Island.
The U. S. S. SEATTLE at anchor off Lanai, Hawaii, May 11.—The sleepy little village of Lanai was granted today a unique sight as all other parts of the United States, for at sea, before this town, rode at anchor the largest number of American warships ever assembled at one place in one time, in history.
There were acres of ships, with ships—ships of all classes and descriptions—from submarines which rolled at anchor at the extreme end of the anchorage, hovering near their mother ships, down to the destroyers, light cruisers, battleships and train vessels, the command and auxiliary section of the fleet.
The Langley, the navy's one airplane carrier, was anchored near the rest of the fleet on the extreme left flank.
At night from ashore, the fleet assumed the appearance of what really it is—a huge wall of metal. Thousands of spotlights, about 150 in all, completely over shadowed the few scattered lights of Lanai, making it appear as though the fleet was a thickly populated shore line and the village of Lanai improved one as several towns anchored at sea.
Today begins a series of conferences among the high command which may determine the lines of the future naval policy. The entire maneuvers from the day

U. S. WARSHIPS AT ANCHOR OFF LANAINA

Number of American Sea Fighters Ever Assembled Is Gathered Near Island.

LANAINA, Hawaii, May 11.—The sleepy little village of Lanaina was granted today a privilege denied all other parts of the United States, for at sea, here, a number of American warships were assembled at one place, at one time, in history.

There were acres of ships, miles of masts, and from submarines which rolled away, the extreme height of the assemblage, hovering over the mother ships, down to the destroyers, light cruisers, battleships and train vessels, the command and auxiliary section of the fleet.

The Langley, the navy's one airplane carrier, was anchored away from the rest of the fleet on the extreme left flank.

At night from ashore, the fleet presented the appearance of what it really is—a huge walled mobile city. Thousands of incandescent lights gleamed aboard approximately 150 vessels, completely overshadowing the few scattered lights of Lanaina, making it appear as though the fleet was a thickly populated shore line and the village of Lanaina impressed one as several small islands anchored at sea.

Today begins a series of conferences among the high command which may determine the lines on which the future naval policy of the country will be drawn. The entire maneuvers from the depart-

EX-GOVERNOR DAVIS PLACED ON TRIAL IN PARDON CASE

Kansas Charged With Conspiracy to Obtain Bribe in Exchange for Banker's Release.

TOPEKA, Kan., May 11.—The trial of Jonathan M. Davis, former Governor of Kansas, on charges of conspiring while in office with his Bank Commissioner, Carl J. Peterson, to obtain a bribe in exchange for a pardon, began today before Judge James A. McClure, in the District Court. Selection of a jury from among a venire of 75 men and women occupied the first attention of counsel.

The former Governor went to trial alone. Peterson, named jointly with Davis on the warrant, is to be tried later. Davis faces two criminal charges. In the present case he and Peterson are alleged to have attempted to obtain a bribe in exchange for a pardon for Walter Grundy, Hutchinson banker, who is serving a sentence in the State penitentiary for embezzlement.

In the other case the ex-Governor's son, Russell G. Davis, is named jointly with his father on charges of obtaining $1250 in exchange for a pardon for Fred W. Pollman, convicted La Cygne banker.

A. L. Oswald, young Hutchinson attorney, who appealed to Davis while the latter was Governor, to pardon Grundy, is the State's star witness from San Francisco, including the "battle" of Oahu and subsequent exercises, will be reviewed, while the personnel of the fleet, which is held aboard by the fact that there is "nothing doing ashore," as the "gobs" express it, is receiving valuable training.

HAWKINS LOSES APPEAL FROM EXTRADITION ORDER

Defendant Given Week to File Bond If He Desires to Take Case to U. S. Supreme Court.

CINCINNATI, May 11.—Morton S. Hawkins of Portland, Ind., president of the Hawkins Mortgage Co., who "jumped" his bond of $7500 at Indianapolis some months ago and who has been attempting to resist removal to that city, after being rearrested in Ohio, was ordered by the United States Circuit Court of Appeals today to be returned to that place for trial under an indictment returned against him and 15 others. The indictment charges use of the mails for promotion of a scheme to defraud. It was returned on May 19, 1924.

Most of the others indicted with him appeared for trial in Indianapolis, but he was missing and his bond was forfeited. After his arrest in Dayton, he obtained release on a larger bond while applying for a writ of habeas corpus. The writ was refused by Judge Hicklenlooper, and Hawkins gave notice of appeal and he was released on a bond of $30,000.

The decision today gives Hawkins one week to file a new bond in case he desires to appeal to the Supreme Court of the United States. The Court of Appeals said, in part: "We think the appellant had no cause to complain of the order of the District Court below. We do not think that error was committed in the refusal of a continuance. It was fairly open to inference that the appellant was seeking unnecessary delay."

Verdict in Denver Man's Death. DENVER, Colo., May 11.—A coroner's investigation into the cause of the death on Feb. 3 of Dr. Carl Henry Blank, real estate operator and formerly of Kansas City, Mo., came to an end today, when physicians' and toxicologists' reports declared that death resulted from natural causes. The body of Dr. Blank was exhumed last Friday, following the filing of a civil suit against Dr. Blank's widow by E. S. Abbott, who signed Dr. Blank's death certificate. An examination of the viscera showed no trace of poison.

TRIAL OF GUS O. NATIONS AND OTHERS CONTINUED

All Defendants in Federal Home Mail Fraud Case With Exception of Nations Request Delay.

The trial of Gus O. Nations, Christian W. Beck and four other officers of the Federal Home Building Corporation, on a charge of using the mails to defraud was continued upon request of all defendants except Nations when it came up in Federal Judge Davis' court today.

Attorneys for Beck, Edward J. Barrett, general manager; John H. Beck, Eugene Paulus and David Beckett, directors, said they had not had time to familiarize themselves with the tangled affairs of the company and were not ready for trial.

Charles M. Hay, attorney for Nations, said he was ready for trial and if the court would consider its recent action in overruling Nations' request for a severance, he would be ready to proceed. District Attorney Curry objected to this and said the Government had prepared its case on the assumption that all defendants would be tried jointly. The court did not entertain Hay's suggestion.

Postal inspectors, who investigated the affairs of the corporation prior to its failure, reported that its assets consisted of a $50 liberty bond, $27 in cash despite the fact that clients had invested $256,000 at that time.

WEST TRUST KANSAS CITY IN MISTRESS BEFORE IT WAS ABSORBED

Records Show Deposits Dropped $2,600,000 in Month — Reserve Frequently Short for Five Months Before Closing.

$1,092,000 OF LOANS TO DIRECTORS UNPAID

Apparent Loss of Several Thousand Dollars to Be Pro-Rated Among Clearing House Banks Which Underwrote Liquidation.

By CURTIS A. BETTS,
Staff Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

KANSAS CITY, May 11. — A more extended investigation of the circumstances under which the Commerce Trust Co., acting as the clearing house banks of Kansas City, undertook the liquidation of the Midwest Reserve Trust Co. in November, 1921, has shown that the Midwest had been in serious financial distress for months before it was taken over by the Commerce Trust Co.
Under the terms of the liquidation, which was completed in January, 1922, the Midwest was charged with the liquidation of a conspiracy by the Clearing House banks to crush it.

Information, which was not available at the time of the publication by the Post-Dispatch, May 15, of interviews with officers of the Midwest, who charged a conspiracy, and with former President Kemper of the Commerce Trust, who denied there was any conspiracy, now shows that the Midwest was in fact unable to continue business.

Directors Informed of Condition.
The condition of the Midwest is shown by the minutes of the meeting of the Board of Directors on Nov. 19, 1921, which show that William Huttig, chairman of the board, explained to the directors that there was "an exceedingly serious condition of the affairs of the bank," that "the meeting was held to consider means of relieving that condition which had resulted in a shortage of funds necessary for the due transaction of the bank's business," that the bank's account with the Federal Reserve Bank was overdrawn, and that the Kansas City Clearing House had demanded that the liquidation be immediately remended.

In denial of the inference drawn from some quarters from the statements of Midwest officers and directors that the Midwest was forced into liquidation through threats by other finance commissioners and that Hughes was rewarded with an important position in the Commerce Trust Co., it is pointed out that Hughes' connection with the Commerce Trust was not until about two years after the closing of the Midwest, and that he then went to the Commerce Trust with other officers of the Continental Bank, of which he was president, in 1923, on retirement from the office of finance commissioner. This connection was purchased by the Commerce Trust three years after the Midwest was closed and two years after the control of the Commerce Trust passed from William T. Kemper, Democratic National Committee chairman, and J. W. Perry, to Theodore Gary and A. F. Adams interests.

Oppose Collection of Notes.
One group of Midwest directors opposed the collection of notes aggregating $1,000,000 signed by the directors and taken by the Commerce Trust Co. as a part of the assets of the Midwest. Two notes for the collection of these notes are pending, one in the United States District Court and the other in the Jackson County Court. Efforts are being made to get the notes out of the hands of the signers to compromise this litigation.

The Post-Dispatch has been put possession of detailed figures from the books of the Midwest and from the liquidation records.

LOS ANGELES BACK IN HANGAR AFTER TRIP TO PORTO RICO

Twelve Attempts Made in Three Hours Before Craft Is Landed at Lakehurst, N. J.
LAKEHURST, May 11.—The Navy dirigible Los Angeles returned yesterday from her pioneer flight to Porto Rico. The ship was sighted over the landing field at 3:10, but it was three hours before she was brought into the hangar.

The lightness of the craft, resulting from fuel consumption, combined with the heavy, damp atmosphere to make the landing more than usual difficult. Twelve attempts to bring the ship eastward failed before the great bag was under control of the ground crew.

The trip to Porto Rico was declared a success by Capt. Steele, who was in command. Weather conditions were for the most part excellent, he said, although on Friday night rain and heavy thunderstorms were encountered off Florida.

The journey to Porto Rico, the first of any airship between the American continent and the island, began a week ago, the ship leaving on May 2 at 10:45 a. m., and arriving at Mayaguez, Porto Rico, approximately 32 hours later. The return required 37 hours and 45 minutes.

U. S.-MEXICAN CONFERENCE ON BORDER TREATY OPENS FRIDAY

American Delegation to Submit Proposals to Curb Narcotic, Alien and Liquor Smuggling.

WASHINGTON, May 11.—A delegation was en route from Washington today with a proposal for strengthening the patrol on the Mexican-American border, which will be submitted to representatives of the Mexican Government at El Paso, Tex., next Friday.

Assistant Secretary Andrews of the Treasury headed the party of seven, which hopes to work out at the conference a treaty covering the border, which has been a problem for some time. Traffic in gold and arms and ammunition also will be considered by the conference.

MUSSOLINI TO UNIFY RULE OF THREE WAR MINISTRIES

Premier, Now in Control of Army and Navy Air Forces, to Take Over Defense Post.

Copyright, 1925, by the Press and Publishing Co. (New York World and Post-Dispatch.) ROME, May 11.—Through talking over the Ministry of Marine, Premier Mussolini has completed the first step toward realization of a unique command of Army-Navy air forces.

Since he took the oath Friday as Marine Minister ad interim, he has now the direction of Foreign Affairs, the Army, the Navy and the Air.

Later, when the work of unification of the administration is finished, he will become Minister of National Defense, thus crystallizing the three war ministries he now holds temporarily.

Whether he will be able to continue the Foreign Ministry as well remains to be seen.

FRENCH NATIONAL BLOC WINS PARIS CITY ELECTION

PARIS, May 11.—The national Bloc won 47 of the 80 seats in the Paris Municipal Council in the French municipal elections held yesterday. The Cartel des Gauches elected 25 and the communists eight. Although losing these seats, the national bloc keeps a safe majority.

DEAUVILLE, May 11.—Henri Lettellier, former proprietor of the Paris Journal and closely identified with the famous resorts of Deauville, was elected Mayor of the famous watering place. He took 42 of the 23 votes of the municipal council and delegates.

Major Makes Average Sketch in Three Minutes

Has Few Erasures and Virtually No Second Trials—Reaction of His Subjects
Here Amusing.

Henry Major, the Hungarian peasant, who has gone about the world in late years making Kings and commoners laugh at his caricatures of them, has a series of his impressions of prominent St.
Louisans, beginning in the Post-Dispatch today. His work in Europe covered every phase of life from the courts of rulers to the "man on the street" in London and Paris.

He has been in the United States for two years and is touring the country for the second time. He has applied for citizenship papers and will become a citizen in three years.

Major's talent for caricature is striking, but one of the impressive things about his work is the speed with which he accomplishes
it. Three minutes generally results in a finished sketch, with little or no erasing, and with complete a sketch. His pencil strays in forceful but easy lines as he works. There are few erasures and virtually no second trials. He caricatures as easily as he signs a check—much more easily, he admits—than he signed checks in his younger days.

The reaction of his subjects was amusing. Some laughed heartily, among them John S. Leahy and Sam Lazarus. Others admitted rather grudgingly that it looked like them. Still others said it might represent anyone. But Major only smiled.

"Their reactions are the difference between photography and caricature," he said. "A photographer strives to eliminate all blemishes and emphasize the things he believes his patron would like to see. Caricature seeks to add a humorous touch to our faces. Men will say that my caricature of them does not look like them, but they will pick up caricatures of the other men, slap their thighs and laugh heartily at the drawings of their fellows."

The subjects of today's sketches are Rabbi Leon Harrison of Temple
Episcopal Church, the Rev. Dr.
Ivan Lee Holt of St. John's Methodist, the Rev. Dr. G. A. Campbell
of Union Avenue Christian and the Rev. Dr. H. H. Forsyth of Kings-highway Presbyterian Church.

Dr. Fodick spoke this morning before the students of Washington University, in Graham Memorial Chapel.

Except for his oddly bristling black hair, there is little of the rabel or the revolutionist in the appearance of the New York
preacher and theologian, whose pulpit relations with the First Presbyterian Church of New York were terminated under pressure from the Presbyterian General Assembly, because of his non-acceptance of certain doctrines, and his refusal to seek regular ordination
as a Presbyterian minister. He is a Baptist, and is a member of the faculty of Union Theological Seminary, and author of widely read books.

He is of medium height, verging upon stoutness, and he speaks with earnestness and energy, without giving the impression of effort or strain. Using no notes, he is never at a loss for a word, and has no recourse to such handy phrases as
"My dear friends." The only familiar pulpit expression which he uses is "In conclusion," but when
Dr. Fodick said this he meant it,
and was through two or three minutes later. Each of his sermons lasted 35 minutes.

"Two Kinds of Christianity."
In his morning sermon, Dr. Fos-
dick said in part:

"There are two kinds of Christians, one the religion of Jesus,
the religion of exaltation and felicity that He lived. The other the religion about Jesus, things said and believed about Him, interpretations and explanations.

"The religion of Jesus, His spirit, His life, His resurrection, His ascension, His return, His relation with the Father, nature of the atonement, presence in the sacraments. There is no more important movement now than the movement to get behind the religion about Jesus and recover the religion of Jesus himself.

"It is so easy for the religion about Jesus to cover, another and destitute the religion of Jesus. It has happened often, and it is happening now. The religion about Jesus is a very real and a very valuable thing, but it is not the religion of Jesus."

LIBERALS' TASK IN CHURCHES DEFINED BY REV. FOSDICK

Must Restore Religion of Jesus in Place of Religion About Him, He Declares.

ADDRESSES TWO LARGE AUDIENCES

Hopes Reformation, "Now on Way," May Come About Through Conversion Rather Than Schism.

The Rev. Dr. Harry Emerson Fodick, most noted American preacher of liberalism, in his two sermons at the Second Baptist Church yesterday, told what liberalism is trying to do in the churches, and discussed the modern desire for "self-expression" in the light of the sermon on the Mount.

If the program set forth in the morning sermon seemed new and revolutionary, the afternoon's discourse had a decidedly old-fashioned moral tone. The task of liberalism, Dr. Fodick said in the morning sermon, is to restore the religion of Jesus, in place of the religion about Jesus, which, he said, is prevalent in the churches today. This change may come through the "conversion" of the churches, he said, or through breaking up of the existing organizations, but he declared that "the reformation is on its way." He made vigorous declaration against war.

The unusual spectacle of policemen stationed at the entrance to prevent overcrowding was seen at both services. Both morning and afternoon, the pews and all available extra seating space were filled long before the time for the service, about 1700 persons being present. The choir loft was filled at both services, and in the afternoon visiting ministers occupied the platform. The number turned away was larger in the afternoon than in the morning.

Ministers Who Assisted.
The Rev. William C. Bittling, retiring pastor of the Second Baptist Church, reinforced some of Dr.
Fodick's utterances with an
"Amen" at the morning service.
Ministers who assisted in the afternoon service were Dean Scarlett of Christ Church Cathedral, the Rev.
Edward S. Travers of St. Peter's
Episcopal Church, the Rev. Dr.
Ivan Lee Holt of St. John's Methodist, the Rev. Dr. G. A. Campbell
of Union Avenue Christian and the Rev. Dr. H. H. Forsyth of Kings-
highway Presbyterian Church.

Dr. Fodick spoke this morning
before the students of Washington
Chapel.

Except for his oddly bristling
black hair, there is little of the rabel or the revolutionist in the appearance of the New York
preacher and theologian, whose pulpit relations with the First Presbyterian Church of New York
were terminated under pressure from the Presbyterian General Assembly, because of his non-acceptance of certain doctrines, and his refusal to seek regular ordination
as a Presbyterian minister. He is a Baptist, and is a member of the faculty of Union Theological Seminary, and author of widely read books.

He is of medium height, verging
upon stoutness, and he speaks with earnestness and energy, without giving the impression of effort or strain. Using no notes, he is never
at a loss for a word, and has no recourse to such handy phrases as
"My dear friends." The only familiar pulpit expression which he uses is "In conclusion," but when
Dr. Fodick said this he meant it,
and was through two or three minutes later. Each of his sermons lasted 35 minutes.

"Two Kinds of Christianity."
In his morning sermon, Dr. Fos-
dick said in part:

"There are two kinds of Christians, one the religion of Jesus,
the religion of exaltation and felicity that He lived. The other
the religion about Jesus, things
said and believed about Him, interpretations and explanations.

"The religion of Jesus, His spirit, His life, His resurrection, His ascension, His return, His relation with the Father, nature of the atonement, presence in the sacraments. There is no more important movement now than the movement
to get behind the religion about Jesus and recover the religion of Jesus himself.

"It is so easy for the religion
about Jesus to cover, another and destitute the religion of Jesus. It has happened often, and it is happening now. The religion about Jesus is a very real and a very valuable thing, but it is not the

THE POST-DISPATCH PLATFORM

I know that my retirement will make no difference in its cardinal principles, that it will always fight for progress and reform, never tolerate injustice or corruption, always fight demagogues of all parties, never belong to any party, always oppose privileged classes and public plunderers, never lack sympathy with the poor, always remain devoted to the public welfare, never be satisfied with merely printing news, always be drastically independent; never be afraid to attack wrong, whether by predatory plutocracy or predatory poverty.

Portland, Ore., "Shows" St. Louis.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

IT may interest forward-looking St. Louisans to learn what is being done at Portland, Ore., to beautify the water front, which is a visualization of something that has been and is being dreamed about by many. The model of this engineering project has been made by students of the Benson Polytechnic School of Portland, the project prepared by City Engineer O. Laurgaard, and involves the expenditure of more than $11,000,000. The Willamette River divides the city of Portland in such a way that about 25 per cent of the population, with the chief retail and business district, is on the west side, and about 75 per cent, the chief residences only, is on the east side. The plan, while modern in all utilitarian phases, such as river and railroad traffic, will also embrace such features as concrete sea walls, topped by roadways, park-like effects, etc. Incidentally, the streets leading to the levee will be widened.

What a vision this presents to St. Louis! Suppose our water front were treated in this manner, beginning with the bridge between the McKinley and Municipal bridges, and eventually including the entire river front from Baden to Carondelet. Those who have experienced the pleasure of a ride on the Galveston sea wall concrete boulevard can imagine what the would mean for the ancient section of St. Louis. J. J. D.

Pat Charter Jobs.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

UNDER the so-called new City Charter, $8000 jobs were created that were formerly performed by the Health Commissioner. The city no longer is classed as the fourth, and in comparison to other cities, where do we stand? Why isn't the free bridge being used by the railroads? I am in favor of recalling the objectionable features of the charter. Let them keep on telling that we know nothing. We are continually forging ahead of "em anyhow. Somehow, somewhere, the right has to win. We received much better service when taxes on a seven-room residence were $30. M. D.

Miners' Old Age Pensions.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

IN response to a request for information regarding the old age pension, it seems to me that the old age pension is a very poor proposition. That is, in its present form. In order to receive a pension one must have labored 20 years in the mining trade and to have been 10 years a member of that district which is to be the district that keeps the old miners up. Then comes the age, 65. Such an idiotic proposition to put before the rank and file! According to statistics, there are very few of the miners that reach the age of 65, because a man who has toiled in the bowels of the earth to that age is completely done for.

The fear of starvation in future days, when one is disabled, is very dreadful. It keeps the worker in such a subjection as to force him to toil for a mere pittance if he is to be one of the "exceptions that is to live after death."

The money that the miners are going to pay as dues for the pension will continuously pile up and very few miners will benefit by it. What will be the result? It will be another opportunity for the creation of jobs for the bureaucrats. Let the State provide for the poor workers in general when they have reached the age of disability. G. ALLARD, Dowell, Ill.

What Will Hindenburg Do?

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

THE women as well as the men who voted for Hindenburg probably realized that a strong man was necessary to keep disturbing elements in check. With a new system of government established, the situation in Germany undoubtedly is as it would be in any other country—there would be no dearth of ambitious men scheming to try out their own plans and systems of government. All would have followers; and the most numerous and powerful of the groups would inevitably cause trouble. Any movement to duplicate Russian situation in Germany would be quickly nipped in the bud by a man like Hindenburg; and any movement to restore the monarchy except probably by a direct vote of the people might also be summarily dealt with if his purpose to uphold the present form of government is sincere. Perhaps the millions who gave him their votes had faith in his utterances and preferred to take their chances with him to taking them with the subversive elements which are at the present time not absent in Germany any more than they are in all other nations, including our own.

THIRD DEGREE GOVERNMENT.

Officers of St. Louis County, sworn to uphold the law—the prosecuting attorney, the sheriff, members of the police force—have all violated and flouted the law in the case of Edward G. Dillon, 19-year-old son of the late Dr. William A. Dillon, who is held as a suspect in the inquiry into the murder of his father. In arresting young Dillon and holding him for 20 hours the officers were within the law. They violated the law in denying the prisoner the privilege of communicating with his counsel. When they failed to break down the prisoner during 20 hours of questioning and failed to develop any evidence of guilt whatever—for the prisoner's refusal to answer cannot be considered an evidence of guilt—the right to detain him longer legally expired.

At that point they flouted the law. Their release of the prisoner was a mere formality, an empty compliance with the law. The suspect had hardly stepped out of the courthouse when he was rearrested and again became a 20-hour prisoner. To the protest of the young man's attorneys prosecuting attorney Mueller is quoted as saying that the police would hold their man as long as they wanted to.

This is third-degree procedure. As such it has defeated itself. It would not be necessary for young Dillon or his attorneys to allege physical violence during the questioning. The psychological violence is convincingly evident. The prospect of indefinite detention, interrupted only by momentary intermissions for the sake of technically complying with the letter of the law, might well unnerve a man of mature years, to say nothing of a youngster in his teens. A confession dragged out of a suspect by that process would be rejected by any jury.

The Post-Dispatch holds no brief for young Edward G. Dillon. But the Post-Dispatch does hold a brief for the legal rights of every citizen, whatever his record or reputation. We protest against official lawlessness in this instance for two reasons. First, it is indefensible in itself. Second, we file our protest in behalf of the innocent man or woman who may at any time be the victim of the same official lawlessness. If officers sworn to uphold the law can violate their official oaths, can contemptuously flout the law through a farcical compliance with it—if that sort of lawlessness is permissible, then no citizen is safe, and his constitutional guarantees as to liberty and the security of his person are wiped out.

It is important that the mystery of Dr. Dillon's murder be solved and the murderer identified, prosecuted and punished. In all legal efforts to that end the police and the prosecuting officers, it is needless to say, have the earnest support of all citizens. But the maintenance of constitutional rights and the security of citizens from police tyranny are of infinitely greater importance than the detection of any criminal.

Official lawlessness is the worst kind of lawlessness. It is an infamous abuse of power. It means substituting the policeman's club for the Constitution. It means the destruction of Government by law. It means Third Degree Government.

ARMS CONTROL AND WAR MONGERING.

The League of Nations conference for the control of traffic in arms and munitions now in session at Geneva bids fair to peter out owing to the lack of a common basis among nations for the prohibition of arms export. The small nations demand free traffic that they may be enabled on occasion to defend themselves. They argue with reason that if nonmanufacturing countries are forced to establish their own munitions factories the production of firearms will not be diminished but increased by a restrictive convention. The resolution adopted by the conference, therefore, upholds freedom of export to Governments under certain conditions, but would prohibit exportation to individuals.

The difficulty found in reaching a basis of agreement that would permit of any effective result shows up the futility of endeavoring to force peaceful conditions by restricting the implements of war while the will to war remains. Prohibition of traffic in arms as a peace measure is at best superficial. The most that can be hoped from it is to prevent the deliberate commercialization of uprising and disorder in backward peoples by the arms manufacturing interests.

In this endeavor any Government can and should act on its own initiative for the welfare of mankind and could so act without any material sacrifice of legitimate national interest. Any Government that permits its nationals to foment or contribute to the delinquency of backward peoples deserves the contempt of civilization. No nation is fit to talk of outlawing war until it has the will to outlaw war mongering by its own commercial interests.

THE RUM ROW VICTORY.

The Coast Guard Fleet, operating against rum runners off New York, is said to have perfected a bottle-proof blockade in the few days it has been in action. The report is credible. The fleet is a veritable Army of Armada, consisting of 60 boats of various capacity and adaptability, and 13 swooping seaplanes.

This aggressive defense, more properly, an attack, indicates the Government's resolution to enforce prohibition. As such it is a refreshing contrast to the Pollyanna blab-blah dished out by Commissioner Haynes and other beneficiaries of Volsteadism.

The Government, too, in closing up the foreign source of supply has begun at the right point. But whether this initial success against the rum runners will mark an advance in the cause of enforcement or will shift the problem into other localities and different circumstances is conjectural. This new policy, seemingly, will challenge the ingenuity of the rum runners who heretofore have had a comparatively easy time of it. If they are the adventurous, virile freebooters they have been painted they will not meekly abandon so lucrative and testful a game. Rum Row, after all, though a preferred location, is hardly more than a point in the circumference. There are miles and miles of coast line, with available ports of entry beckoning these sailormen of fortune. And there are miles and miles of border enticing their inland brothers. The successful patrol of this vast mileage will call for many armadas and many legions of land forces. Such being the case, the victory over Rum Row is only a battle won. The war is still to be fought.

Having finally entered this war the Government seemingly will have to fight it out to a finish, or as long as public opinion will finance the struggle. The costs, of course, will be tremendous. And there will still be the domestic war to fight after the rum in the country has been razed. That will also call for great expenditures, the exercise of war-time powers by the Government and the suspension of civil rights and privileges which the America of an earlier day would have died rather than surrender.

But this is the way we must go if prohibition is not permanently to be the farce and instigator of lawlessness it has been thus far. It is a dark, forbidding prospect, the end of which cannot be foreseen.

STAGE PROGRESS IN ST. LOUIS.

It is gratifying to note that St. Louis is moving upward in facilities for stage production, and in the quality and importance of the productions presented.

The season now closing was marked by the visit of several of the best productions on the stage, with the original players, and the runs were successful. Several great advances of local stage facilities and productions are pending.

The Garden Theater, the new beautiful and commodious outdoor stage, will soon be completed. It will open with a Greek classic, "Electra," produced by Margaret Anglin, and an attractive program for the summer is announced. It will relieve the Municipal Theater of the Fashion Pageant, and thus release that great outdoor auditorium for an extension of the opera season, light and grand.

A committee of citizens is negotiating with Morris Gest for the presentation at the Coliseum of "The Miracle," acknowledged to be the greatest dramatic production in point of scenic effect and emotional appeal of the modern theater. Originally planned for presentation in New York alone, it was revived in Cleveland, with tremendous popular and pecuniary success. If brought to St. Louis, as now seems probable, this city will have the distinction of being one of four American cities which will have the opportunity of producing this great spectacular pantomime, and of five on this continent. According to present plans, after St. Louis the production will be limited to Chicago and Toronto.

The grand opera season at the Municipal Theater will be extended to 17 performances, with repetition of "Carmen," the production of "Cavalleria Rusticana," "Aida," and probably an act or two of a new opera, "The Music Robber," by Richard L. Stokes and Isaac Van Grove.

The municipal opera program is a distinct advance in the quality of the operas on the list. The list embraces Von Flotow's "Martha," Mascagni's "Cavalleria Rusticana," Gilbert and Sullivan's "Pinafore," Lehar's "Count of Luxembourg," De Koven and Smith's "Rob Roy," Gilbert and Sullivan's "Ruddigore," Strauss' "Night in Venice," showing a decided rise of standard in the season's productions.

St. Louis is steadily progressing as the art center of the Middle West.

MAN O' WAR AND HIS PROGENY.

This is a footnote on heredity. Two of the 12 horses which competed at Pimlico last week for the rich Preakness stake were sired by Man O' War, the greatest animal that ever wore racing plates. One was a colt called By Himself, the other was a filly called Maid At Arms. By Himself finished fifth, many lengths behind Coventry, which won the race. Maid At Arms finished eleventh, next to last. Since Man O' War has been retired to stud, this has been the most spectacular opportunity for his progeny to distinguish themselves. They failed lamentably.

Man O' War possesses that peculiar and mysterious combination of bone, of sinew, and of racing heart that makes him the outstanding thoroughbred of our time. Seemingly the most careful breeding, supervised by the genius of Miss Elizabeth Dainfield of Lexington, has failed so far to repeat those qualities in the offspring. Old horsemen soothe themselves as they turn away from this disappointment by recalling the brilliant descendants of Bonnie Scotland. Yet they cannot explain it.

It is axiomatic that great men beget unworthy sons, but in the horse world sires of Man O' War's stamp are expected to reproduce animals like themselves. When they fail, there is mourning among the rail birds and in the stables. Man O' War could probably be taken out of his serene Bluegrass retirement today and defend successfully his world's championship against all comers, but he has yet to prove himself as noble a sire as he is a runner.

The reversal of the city authorities on abolishing the three important municipal welfare services was not quick enough to prevent some reversals of opinion on city hall motives.

TOO HIGH A PRICE FOR BIRDS.

In a praiseworthy effort to promote the protection of migratory game birds, Secretary of Agriculture Jardine has made an astonishing proposal. He would construe or amplify the Federal regulations as to how game birds may be taken to mean that "no such bird shall be taken by any method prohibited by the law of the State, Territory or District in which taken."

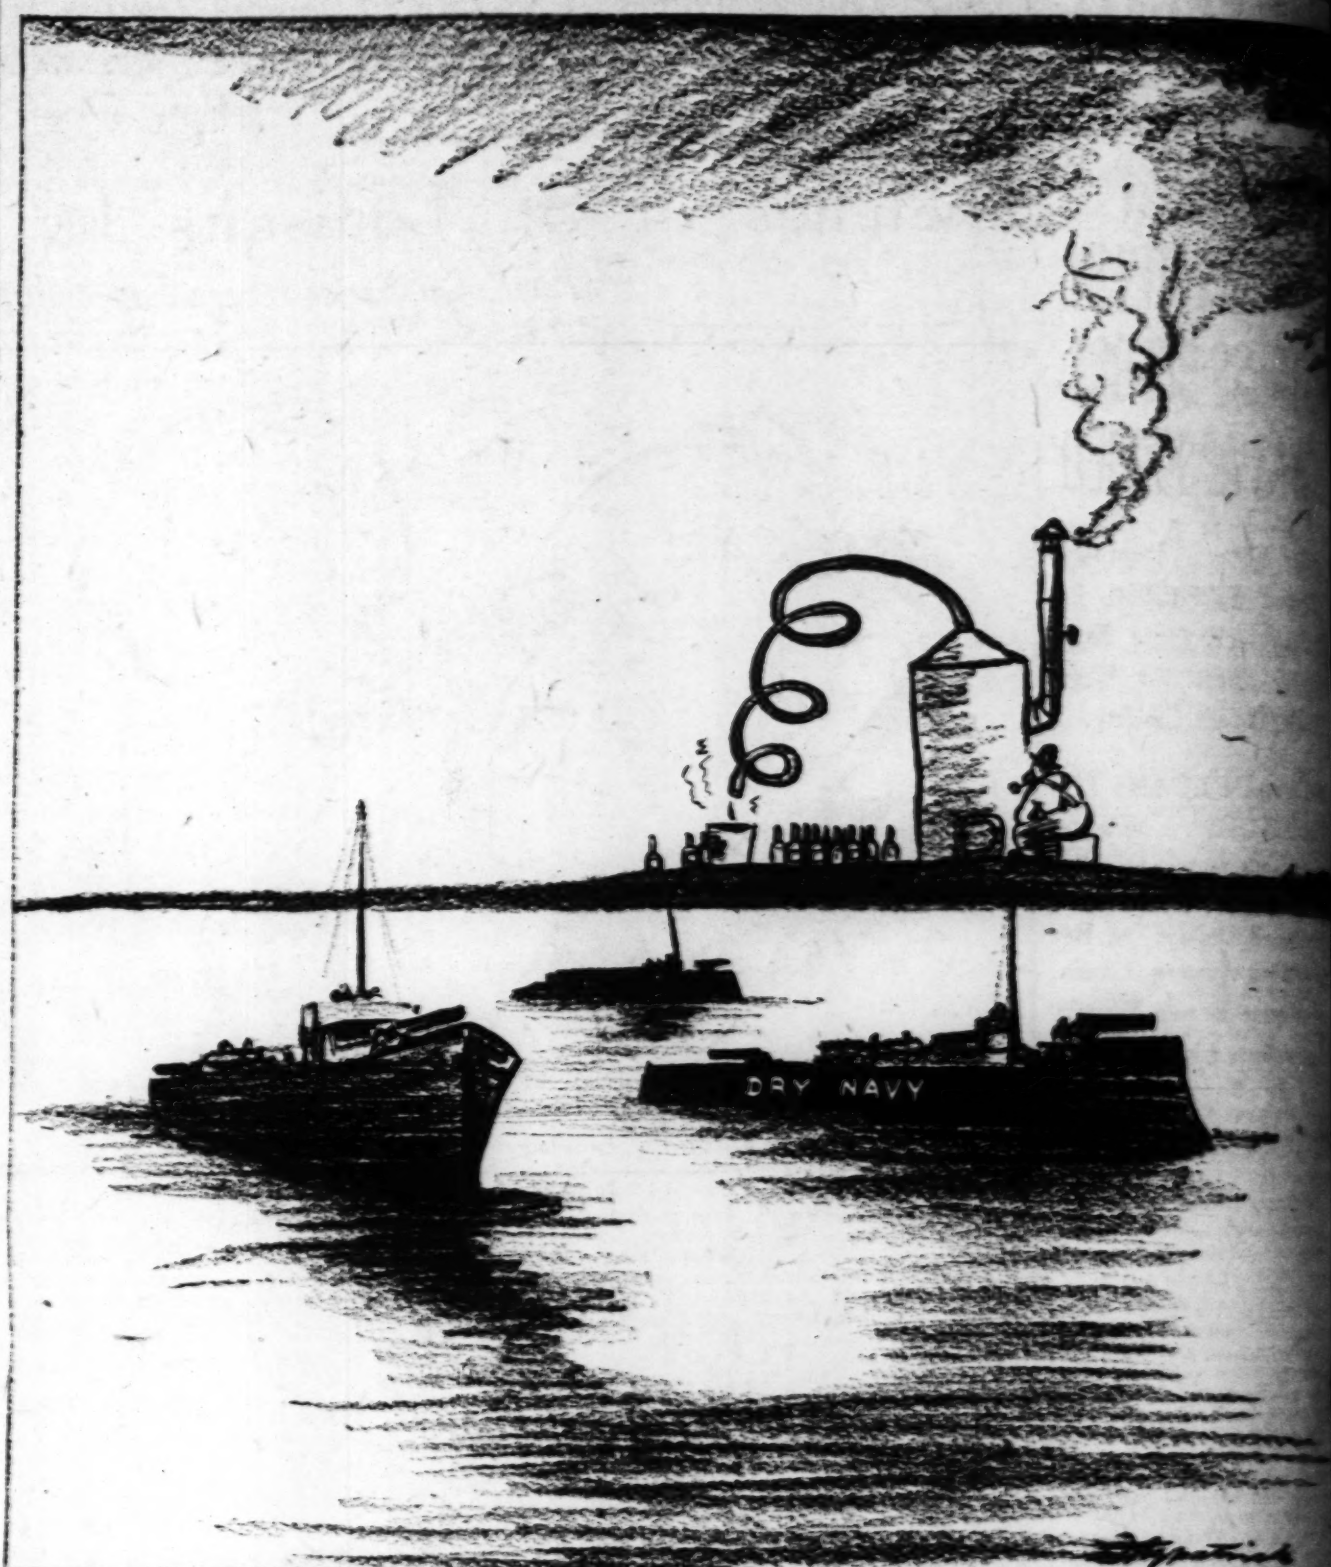

The proposal means this: A citizen violating any State or local law in taking a migratory bird would thereby have violated the Federal law and would be liable to prosecution in the Federal courts. Such power vested in the Federal Government would undoubtedly provide surer and greater protection for migratory birds, but where would it leave the citizen?

The proposal, admirable in motive, is unsound in principle. In our opinion, it is unconstitutional. Certainly it is revolutionary.

Consider the inevitable development of such a principle of law. If the citizen who violated a State or local law as to the taking of game birds is liable to prosecution by the Federal Government, why should he not be liable to such prosecution for the violation of any law? This principle can not be restricted to specific application. If it is sound and desirable in any particular it is sound and desirable in all instances. And that is the monster into which this precedent, once established and accepted, would grow. State courts and State laws, local courts and local regulations might survive as mere curia under such assumption of power by the Federal Government but they would disappear as effective agencies and as bulwarks of individual rights.

The Post-Dispatch believes profoundly in the adequate care and protection of all bird life. To that end the Federal Government and the States should earnestly co-operate. But precious as bird life is, it should not be secured at the price of destroying the States and local government, which is what Mr. Jardine, unintentionally, we are sure, has proposed.

Rum running might have been easy to fight in the beginning, but now it's a vested interest.

MR. ANTWERP'S OPINION.

"We don't seem to hear anything more about the movement to outlaw tobacco."

Mr. Antwerp said.

"Probably the reformers are laying their lines and plan to put it over on us when we have the next war. That was what they did with prohibition after fooling around for more than 50 years without getting anywhere."

"As far as I am concerned, I would just as soon have the reform now. It would make tobacco taste better, and men who are now getting little satisfaction out of a Carona would find themselves delighting in a 5-cent cigar."

"We get tobacco too easily. There never was a time when so much of the smoking tobacco was dangled under our noses, when so many exquisite cigars were made, and when the billboards and electric advertising devices so graphically exhorted us to smoke somebody's cigarettes."

"The result is that we prize nothing in tobacco. It is like everything else that comes too easily. If we prohibited the use of tobacco in any form all these things would acquire a wonderful and hitherto unsuspected flavor. They would be bootlegged everywhere, and people who never cared to smoke would run from one pipe party to another."

"At the present time liquor is tasting better to us than tobacco does. Liquor is not better than tobacco. It only seems so because the sodapoppers have said we can't have it."

I think myself it is about time to rebel at the universal use of "she" in referring to nations. But why start on poor, old, fumbling China when there are real upstanding he-men like Uncle Sam?

Perhaps the headline man was thinking of the "he-athen Chinese."

A swarm of bees, perhaps on route from Japan across the Pacific, settled on a boom of the steamship West Nomentum, which was well out from Yokohama, bound for Portland, Ore. This is the first case known to the steamer's captain of bees swarming on a vessel at sea. He said the bees remained on the boom for several hours. He has no idea where they came from or where they went. They were likely following one of their own reformers.

THE OLD COLLAR BUTTON COLLOQUY.

Sir: I see in your paper of May 7 that W. C. Skaggs of Menz, Ark., claims the record for having the oldest collar button.

I have a red celluloid collar button that was given me July 12, 1892, with a pair of cuff buttons, by my mother. Am still wearing the collar button, but the cuff buttons are old fashioned and tarnished and haven't been worn for years.

The reason I remember this date so well, was the date of my first trip to Missouri from Marshall, Mo., also the first circus I attended, Lemen Bros. I was between 12 and 13.

Hoping this is the record, I am yours,

Venia, Mo. H. F. HOLLENBECK.

A Florida legislator is giving a good exhibition of what is going on inside of the average lawmaker's head these days. He wants a law in his State that will banish the term flapper from the fair lexicon of Florida. He thinks it is undermining the chivalry of the South. We already held the record in this country for fool statutes, but this somehow doesn't content us.

A visiting New York minister suggests that since pure mountain water is being piped into many of the cities it perhaps will not be long until cool air from the Ozarks will be pumped into the streets of St. Louis. This reminds us of the man on a westbound Pennsylvania train who was bragging about Kansas City. He finally turned his guns upon a New Yorker.

"All Kansas City needs is water," he said. "Give her the water New York has and she will become the metropolis of America!"

The New Yorker dropped his newspaper in his lap.

"Why don't you put in a pipeline between Kansas City and the Gulf of Mexico?" he asked.

"A pipeline? What good would that do?"

The New Yorker man looked out of the window wistfully and said: "I was only thinking that if you people in Kansas City can suck anything like you can blow it would not be long until you had the whole gulf up there."

Herbert Quick, author of "Vandermark's Folly," left his bed in a hospital the other night to address the Missouri School of Journalism, and then went back to his hospital and died. Vandermark never beat that.

The man who wrote the story of last week telling how the New York Yankees are all shot to pieces ought to be invited to attend this week's obscenity over the Browns.

The MIRROR PUBLIC OPINION

DWELLING ABROAD.

From an article in the May issue of the American Review by Lawrence J. Brown, who has lived in London, Copenhagen and Berlin.

MY children are of the eleventh generation born on American soil. Of immediate forbears, not one ever set foot on a foreign land. Yet here am I, a foreigner, unaccompanied by foreign living abroad by free choice—did I not choose to live in America? I am a quarter of my lifetime in Europe, and thousands of Americans—men of letters, indeed—who are just as I am, in London, Paris and Rome are through the right to call the President a foreigner. I know some of them, and one in far-off Kieff. One came to them everywhere—Americans who spontaneously when "The Star Spangled Banner" is played, who pay the American income tax, and who eat pie and baked beans for sweet potatoes and corn on the cob. * * * I cannot, I think, be overboarded that America was once, and several decades, politically the freest country in the world. Yet even that was great only by contrast. It came mainly in freedom from compulsory military service—except in time of war, the right to call the President a foreigner. ## FLOWER SERMON ON WORKING AND LIVING

New York Minister, Speaking Here, Says Man Must Have Vocation and Avocation.

The annual flower sermon, as provided in the will of Henry Shaw, which set aside $200 a year for that purpose, was preached at Christ Church Cathedral yesterday morning by the Rev. Harry P. Nichols of New York City. The church was decorated with gladioli and daisies from the Missouri Botanical Garden.

"Man must have a vocation and an avocation," Dr. Nichols said. "A vocation is what we live for. Our avocation is what we live for. Our vocation takes most of our time, and that is meretricious, but living is not life. Your avocation gives incentive to plan for the year ahead and inspires you for the week to be done. If you have an avocation you don't have to talk shop, and talking shop is the most boring kind of talk."

"My avocation is mountains, farmland, high and covered with flowers. As president of the American Alpine Club, I could talk about climbing to conquer Mount Logan, 19,341 feet high, on the border line between Canada and Alaska. A recent expedition has been sent to conquer this mountain, and I want all of you to join with me in living on the reports of this summer."

Avocation helps vocation. "My avocation helps my vocation. The best sermons I have are on mountains. You sight a mountain, and immediately decide how to climb it. You cross the tundra, the marsh, start up the slope, breathing heavily, sick and winded. The clouds creep in, hiding the peak. Fear comes with the cloud, but you needn't fear if you're trained. If you know the way, if you have resolute companions, and a gun, for no real mountaineer dares travel up a new mountain without a gun."

Dr. Nichols recalled that a youth killed in the attempted ascent of Mount Everest was asked before he started to climb it why he wanted to do so. The reply was, "Because it is there."

"Many people analyze the flowers and come to know all about them, but by taking them apart, petal by petal, the flower itself is gone. Just the same is it with friendship; when it is analyzed into its minutest part, it no longer exists."

Corner for Wild Flowers. "I would take you away from the hot-house flowers, take you to the wild mountain slopes, far asiled, to the bubbling and fresh springs of God, and you will come back refreshed. A dream of mine is partly realized, for the cold water of mountain brooks is piped into our cities, and maybe your children's children will pipe the cool mountain air into your St. Louis streets."

Save a corner in your flower garden for wild flowers. "Dr. Nichols also spoke yesterday afternoon at the fifty-sixth anniversary meeting of the Missionary Society of Episcopal Churches at Moulton Temple. Bishop Frederick Johnson officiated and Wallace E. Simmer, president of the Missionary Society, presided. Hundreds of children and teachers from 34 Episcopal Church Sunday schools attended and deposited with Bishop Johnson their contributions to the church missions."

From an article in the May issue of the American Mercury by Lawrence J. Thompson, who has lived in London, Copenhagen and Berlin.

MY children are of the eleventh generation born on American soil. Of my immediate forbears, not one ever set foot in foreign land. Yet here am I, tenth of the line, uncontaminated by foreign blood, being abroad by free choice—and for more than a quarter of my lifetime! ...

Thousands of Americans—tens of thousands, indeed—who are just as American as I am. London, Paris and Rome are thronged with them. One finds them in Brussels, Berlin, Dresden, Munich. I know some in Madrid and one in far-off Kieff. One encounters them everywhere—Americans who stand up spontaneously when "The Star Spangled Banner" is played, who pay the American income tax and who eat pie and baked beans and sigh for sweet potatoes and corn on the cob. ...

It was a fortunate thing indeed for Linnie Reynolds, a poor but excessively honest, if somewhat dumb, shopgirl, that Garry Schuyler, the handsome millionaire, had a true heart beating under the old overalls he wore when he went snooping around her department store looking for new thrills. For, as it might have happened to Linnie, seeing she fell for Mr. Schuyler's winning smile right off the bat and went on an automobile ride with him wearing such high-heeled shoes that walking back would have been well nigh impossible. ...

It seems the situation was aggravated by the fact that Mrs. Schuyler Sr. was suffering from the fact, and she was afraid that her daughter-in-law might learn of it and ruin her position in society by spreading the story around. You can imagine how unpleasant things became around the 26 rooms, to say nothing of the 14 baths, after that, for Linnie, and so one night she put on her old shop clothes and slipped out into the rain. Garry, although he had just had his dinner jacket pressed, dashed after her in his snappy little open runabout and overtook her so fast that she bumped into her and landed her in a hospital. ...

It shows that the State is a place of happy homes. It indicates that it is late in which the fundamentals of life still have a place. If there are no Greenwalds, no Bohemian centers and no high row magazines, we can at least console ourselves with the thought that we haven't forgotten the realities of life. Let the pessimists rage and the grouches complain. No man or woman can be a pessimist long. In the presence of babies, and as for greenhorns, they have no place with children. The more babies, the fewer grouches. It is a good men and North Carolinians can take heart.

FROM NORTH CAROLINA. From the Raleigh News and Observer.

NORTH CAROLINA is still leading in babies. Race suicide is not one of the dangers for which the State has to fear. Last year there were 32 babies born for every thousand population, which was a record for the nation. That is an unusual fact. The calamity howlers have been so busy in recent months picturing the ruin of the State that it is to be visited upon them that the news is more welcome than a benediction. North Carolina is proud of this record. It shows that the State is a place of happy homes. It indicates that it is late in which the fundamentals of life still have a place. ...

its third and last ending. It all sounds rather complicated, with so many bedrooms and things to keep track of, but it's really the best picture entertainment of the week.

Another Dumb Belle.

AT the Grand Central West End Lyric and Capitol, "Chickie" proves to be what the same sort of a story. This time, however, Chickie is a trusting little stenographer, who gets all tangled up with a millionaire, who, unfortunately, hasn't got his mind set on matrimony. He, too, has a house on the avenue, and while the number of rooms and baths are not mentioned, there is, of course, the ever reliable swimming pool. Had he been the right sort, Chickie would have married as much money, or even more, than Linnie did in "The Price of Pleasure," but the best she could do, under the circumstances, was to land a struggling young lawyer. It's not much of a picture, but Ray Miller's Jazz Orchestra, on the stage, provides enough entertainment to make up for the film's shortcomings.

Remember Flora Finch?

THE old Belasco De Mille socializer, "Men and Women," has been remade into a movie and Richard Dix is the star in the revamped version of the Missouri. Dix is seen in the role of the bank cashier whose wife longs for pearl necklaces and has a friend who is willing to provide them. What she really needed more than anything else was a couple of good, sound wallop in the jaw but Dix, being so much of a gentleman that he couldn't hand her those, stole $10,000 from his bank to buy her jewelry instead. He is headed for prison when his wife goes down on her knees to his boss and wins him a job down in South America somewhere. A good play years ago, "Men and Women" is rather stupid today, but it brings back to the screen, in a small part, that prime favorite of the early screen comedians, the Misses and Rivoli, comes to

Engagement Announced

Miss Lillian Marie Williams.

ANNOUNCEMENT was made last week of the engagement of Miss Lillian Marie Williams, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Williams of Barstow, Cal., and Charles F. Cooley, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. C. F. Cooley, of 5445 Enright avenue. The news was told at a bridge luncheon at Hotel Statler.

Philadelphia, and Mrs. George Dock Jr. of New York, and they will spend the summer in the East.

Mrs. May W. Reynolds of 5439 Page boulevard, Gold Star mother, left St. Louis yesterday to join a party of members of the Gold Star Mothers of America, who will sail on the George Washington May 13 for France to make a tour of the battlefields and cemeteries. On Memorial day a special conductor will take each group of mothers to the part of the cemetery they wish to visit. Mrs. Reynolds' son, Private Leland Merriam Reynolds, is buried in the American cemetery at Belleau Wood. The party will return on the Leviathan June 8, and Mrs. Reynolds will visit in New York and Philadelphia before returning home.

Mrs. M. J. Mandelbaum, who has been visiting her sister, Miss Elise Beck, of 535 Clara avenue, returned to her home in Cleveland Friday.

Miss Margaret Mowrey, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Mowrey of University street, has returned from a brief visit to her sisters, Misses Sarah May and Blanche Jane Mowrey, students at Arcadia College.

The Lafayette W. C. T. U. will give a goodfellowship luncheon Wednesday at the home of Mrs. J. R. Ginn, 2543 Flora place. Members and their friends are invited for a business session following the luncheon.

The Good-Fellowship Club will meet Friday evening at Westminster Hall, 3506 Olive street. Those interested are invited.

The marriage of Miss Lenora Sarli, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles A. Sarli of 5117 Kensington avenue, and Burt Kaemmerer, son of Mr. and Mrs. T. A. Kaemmerer, took place quietly at noon Saturday in St. Mark's Church. Luncheon followed at the home of the bride's aunt, Mrs. Joseph Valenti, 3444 Oxford street. The couple will depart Tuesday for their wedding trip and will make their home in St. Louis.

Miss Flora Finch, who, with the late John Bunny, made millions laugh in the old two and three reelers, Macy and Scott, also on the Missouri's bill, are clever entertainers.

How to Write a Movie.

DOWN at Loew's State this week you can learn all about how to write a successful movie scenario. All you have to do is to get a typewriter and plenty of cigarettes and stick to the job until it's finished. "The Way of a Girl," the feature film, shows an author at work on the picture and as he writes the play is unfolded. Eleanor Boardman is the star and every now and then she steps out of the drama and consults with the author about what to do next. As a matter of fact, the play would never get very far on its own merits but the manner in which it is done is a distinct novelty for the screen and proves to be very entertaining. On the stage the Pastelle Ballet, with the Albertina Rasch girls, whoever they are, provides an exquisite dance number.

$200,000,000 for a Man.

CONWAY TEARLE and Sigrid Holmquist do their best to make "A School for Wives" an entertaining picture at the Del Monte this week, but the plot is too insane and trips them at the start. Tearle is a young artist for whom Miss Holmquist gives up a fortune to wed. He refuses to accept any of her father's "tainted" money and they are about to run out of milk and crackers when their son takes ill. Promptly a cablegram to dad for money followed by the daughter's return home. There she finds a life of ease and goes to live in poverty for a year to learn how to become a good wife. This she does eventually and wins back her husband, though to do it she must give up just scads of money, as we remember it, some $200,000,000. There also is a Stan Laurel comedy and a stage number on the Del Monte bill.

PROGRAM GIVEN BY CHILDREN OF CATHOLIC INSTITUTIONS

Archbishop Glennon Makes Short Address at Conclusion of Performance at Odeon.

A program in celebration of the fourteenth annual conference of the Catholic charities of St. Louis was given at the Odeon yesterday by children from nine Catholic charitable institutions.

In a short address at the conclusion of the program Archbishop Glennon thanked the children for their performance, and paid a tribute to the sisters in the institutions in which the children are cared for.

He asked that the aged be remembered. "Lend them your help and place over their gray heads a mantle of charity," he said.

ORIGIN OF MOTHERS' DAY

Minister Says It Sprang From Simple Tribute of One Woman.

The origin of Mothers' day from a simple tribute of one woman to the memory of her mother was told yesterday by the Rev. James Hardin Smith in his sermon at the University Presbyterian Church.

"In 1908 Miss Anna M. Jarvis, a Philadelphia Sunday School teacher, chose to wear a white carnation in memory of her mother," Dr. Smith said. "From this little incident has grown the celebration of this day. In 1914 Congress set aside the second Sunday in May as 'Mothers' day.' Today it is being observed in nearly every church of Christendom."

FUNERAL FOR ARTHUR E. RETON AT KANSAS CITY TOMORROW

He Was Manager of St. Louis Local Branch of American Type Foundry Co. for 23 Years.

Funeral services for Arthur E. Reton, for 28 years manager of the St. Louis branch of the American Type Foundry Co., will be held tomorrow afternoon at Washington Cemetery, Kansas City, Mo., where the body will be interred. He died Saturday of heart disease at his home, 320 North Skinker road.

Reton, who was 55 years old, was born in Milwaukee, and when a boy moved with his family to Kansas City, where his father, John T. Reton, established the first type foundry west of the Mississippi River. He entered the business with his father and later became connected with a printers' supply house which was consolidated with the American Type Foundry Co. of which he became local manager in Kansas City in 1894. Three years later he came to St. Louis as manager.

Reton is survived by his widow, Mrs. Frances Dewey Reton; a brother, J. E. Reton, Robertsville, Mo., and a sister, Mrs. George S. Coomber, Kansas City, Mo. Reton was an Elk and a thirty-third degree Mason.

Scottish Rite Club Address. At its weekly luncheon meeting tomorrow in the Annex Hotel, the Scottish Rite Club will hear an address by the Rev. George P. Horst, representative of the Board of Education of the Presbyterian Church, with headquarters in this city.

W. F. EVANS, 'FRISCO GENERAL COUNSEL, DIES

Widely Known Rail Attorney Succumbs to Apoplexy at Age of 66.

William F. Evans, for 14 years general counsel of the St. Louis-San Francisco Railway Co., died at St. Anthony's Hospital Saturday of apoplexy. He was 66 years old and had been ill for several months, suffering Thursday the stroke that later proved to be fatal.

Evans, who was unmarried and resided at Hotel Chase, was one of the most widely known railroad attorneys in the Middle West. He entered the service of the Frisco in 1907 as general solicitor and two years later became general counsel.

He was born in Menzies County, Iowa, November 16, 1859, and received his early education in the public schools of Centerville, Ia. For several years he practiced law in Topeka, Kan., and in 1901 came to St. Louis, where, a year later, he was appointed general attorney for the Chicago Rock Island & Pacific Railroad.

Evans was a director of the Central National Bank of St. Louis and a member of the St. Louis, Missouri and American Bar Associations. He also was a member of the St. Louis, Nocturnal and Racquet Clubs.

He is survived by two sisters, an undertaking chapel, 4449 Olive street, at 3 p. m. tomorrow. The body will be shipped to Centerville, Ia., for burial Wednesday.

WALLACE EDDINGER IN PLAYLET FEATURES BILL AT ORPHEUM

Sketch by Edwin Burke Offers Good Gam—Harry Houdini Makes Second Appearance.

The bill at the Orpheum this week is reminiscent of an early season football game. The second half is a great deal better than the first. Included in the latter division of the program are Wallace Eddinger and his playlet by Edwin Burke. This comedy is merely of momentary interest, but it is far better than most of the playlets on vaudeville stages, and it is made to appear even better than it is by the acting of so excellent a comedian as Mr. Eddinger. The lead is supported in reality as well as in theory by Isabel Withers and Leslie Adams, and the result is very good entertainment.

There are two young men, Frank Hurst and Eddie Vogt, who are funny. They would be even funnier if they would amputate the end of their act. "Another good act is that of the Wright Dancers. Helen Pachaud is the soloist and she has a dance chorus of several graceful young women, who likewise appeared briefly in two other acts.

Harry Snodgrass, "King of the Ivories," plays well, as was related on his first appearance at the Orpheum this season. Howard's animal, and Ellen van Biese and Richard Ford, who sing, were potentially good. Gilbert Wells and Florence Brady sang "blues." Wells once wrote "Hard-Hearted Hanna."

Journal recently asked where they live.

The explanation is that multitudes of these Christians have not the religion of Jesus, but only the religion about Jesus. The religion about Jesus cannot, of itself, make a man a Christian.

"Reformation on Way."

"We hear it said that a new religious reformation is near. It may be that we can carry over the old-line churches into new spiritual power, or it may be that we shall have to split away, as Luther's reformation did, from the mother churches. I trust we can get the reformation by the conversion of the old churches, rather than by schisms from them—but the reformation is on its way. It is an endeavor somehow to recover, for the modern generation, in its personal character and social relationships, the religion of Jesus, distinguished from the complex and grossly inadequate religion about Jesus."

"Liberalism is often interpreted in negative terms. Many think of liberals as destructive. I myself fear the fool liberals more than the fundamentalists. For the liberals are so often negative. They talk of having to destroy the old before building the new, as if spiritual reconstruction were a mechanical task like house building. The whole figure is a false one. In the forest you may see the dead leaves still clinging to the twigs. You don't have to destroy them before the new leaves can grow. The sun, sap, new vitality, will push them off naturally. That is the true figure of spiritual reformation. It comes from the inside out. It is the emergence and upthrust of a new life."

Ordination Tests.

Dr. Fosdick used as examples the lives of St. Francis of Assisi, Luther and John Wesley, and continued:

"Our ordination councils try a young man for heresy before he starts his ministerial career. They hold him up at a theological pistol point, and like the bandit at the street corner they get only his loose change, not his bank account of real Christianity."

"If the Master were to come back and to see some of the things believed about Him and done in His name. He would say: 'If that is Christianity, I am not a Christian.'"

"Some have tried to take the name of Christians away from men like Dr. Bunting and myself, because we refused to subject ourselves to some of the things believed about Jesus. If that is what Christianity means, I would be ashamed to be a Christian, but I insist on being a disciple of Jesus. And the great need is more disciples of Jesus. To possess even a little of the religion of Jesus is the most searching adventure of the human soul."

Winston Churchill, First Lord of the British Admiralty, said lately that all the great nations now conduct departments of pathology and biology, to study the use of germs in warfare, the use of anthrax for cattle, or plague for populations. Major Gen. Swinton of the British Army has predicted that the next war will be fought with germs and has added: "Why not, if we really mean to fight? And he is right—it is the logic of war, from clubs, spears and bows to guns and bombs, and from these to germs."

"Unless we get there first with international substitutes for war, our boys and girls will be fighting like that, and you will expect us to minister to them. No, we won't. You can look us up first. The religion of Jesus can't be reconciled with germ warfare."

The text of the afternoon sermon was: "Strait is the gate and narrow is the way which leadeth unto life, and few there be that find it."

"The old interpretation of that text is that many go to hell and few go to heaven." Dr. Fosdick said: "That interpretation places God on a moral level with Philip II of Spain, who issued an edict for the destruction of 2,000,000 people of the Netherlands, with a few specified exceptions."

"The Master meant something quite different. There are two ways to live. One is the lawless, uncontrolled, broad way. It is very alluring and many walk in it."

"This broad road is a not unfair picture of the lawlessness of the American people. No other civilized nation has so much crime or such failure to punish it."

"The demand for self-expression is characteristic of today. President Butler of Columbia University says we are urging the even the infants to 'express themselves.' One youth came to me, asking to join the church, and at the same time stoutly defending his theory and practice of free love."

"We have consulted authority, and to express ourselves we have free verse, jazz, cubism in art, and in morals the rule of do-as-you-please. I disagree with most of this, but I recognize that it is inevitable. After a winter freeze, there must come a spring thaw, and we are now having it."

"Jesus represented a spring thaw after a long winter of frozen orthodoxy. He headed a youth movement, which seemed far more revolutionary than any that we face today."

"More Promise Than Peril."

"We may find more promise than peril in the new generation. Thank God for the freedom from cant and hypocrisy of the young life of today at its best. But let Jesus, the great iconoclast, the supreme innovator, say to our own time, with its demand for life, free and untrammelled. 'Strait is the gate, narrow is the way which leadeth unto life, and few there be that find it.'"

TREASURY PLANS BIG ISSUE OF CURRENCY

Notes Will Be "Cured" for Two or Three Weeks Before Circulating.

The Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, May 11.—The Treasury has made plans for printing more paper money in the fiscal year than has been turned out by the American Government in any other 12 months in history. Orders have been prepared for the purchase of 200,000,000 sheets of distinctive silk fiber paper, from each sheet of which eight pieces of currency are made, and beginning July 1, the Bureau of Engraving and printing will be run at maximum capacity to meet the nation's paper money requirements. An order for 25,000,000 sheets already has gone to the manufacturers and this installment will be delivered in three weeks.

PART THREE.

TREASURY PLANS BIG ISSUE OF CURRENCY

Notes Will Be 'Cured' for Two or Three Weeks Before Circulating.

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, May 11.—The Treasury has made plans for printing more paper money in the next year than has been turned out by the American Government in any other 12 months in history. Orders have been prepared for the purchase of 200,000,000 sheets of distinctive silk fiber paper, from each sheet of which eight pieces of currency are made, and, beginning July 1, the Bureau of Engraving and Printing will be run at maximum capacity to meet the nation's paper money requirements. An order for 25,000,000 sheets already has gone to the manufacturers and this installment will be delivered in three weeks.

Announcement of the Treasury's program discloses that never in any one year before have the orders for money paper exceeded 150,000,000 sheets. That quantity was ordered during the year now coming to a close and it was about 20 per cent greater than ever was used before in a like period.

Coincident with the announcement of the printing program, Assistant Secretary Dewey, whose job it is to see that there is plenty of money available in the country, made known yesterday that the Treasury would take its first step July 1 toward building up a reserve of currency. By this method it is hoped the life of paper money may be prolonged. There will be an opportunity for "curing" the money before it goes into active service and this process is expected to keep it from fraying, cracking and otherwise going to pieces easily.

The life of the one dollar bill now is only about eight months, whereas Treasury experts figure it should be a year. In pre-war days the average bill would wear about 14 or 15 months, but times have changed. Dewey is convinced that higher prices, use of automobiles, the necessities of commerce and industry compel the carrying of more money.

The Treasury has not been able since the World War to print money fast enough to permit establishment of a reserve. Dewey said the bills now are printed and placed in circulation within 10 days while tests have proved that they should not pass through the printing stages in less than a month and should be "cured" or "seasoned" two to three weeks longer.

DESERTER REWARDS FOR POLICE

The $50 paid by the Government for arrest of deserters from the army or navy will henceforth be divided between the policemen making the arrest and the Police Relief Association instead of it all being paid to the Relief Association, the Police Commissioners have ordered.

It used to be that way years ago, 80 per cent to the officers making the arrest and 20 per cent to the Relief Association. But squabbles arose among the men making arrests and a former Board decided to end the question and ordered all rewards of the kind paid into the Relief Association.

The new board holds a policeman entitled to share in the reward for his work. It gives an incentive to hunt out the deserters and thereby aid the Government. It holds, so has ordered a readjustment, 80 per cent to the officers and 20 per cent to the Relief Association.

GOVERNOR WANTS FORD SUIT DISMISSED

Says World Should Know It Does Not Represent Mississippi's Attitude.

By the Associated Press.

JACKSON, Miss., May 11.—Disclaiming all responsibility from the antitrust suit filed by State Revenue Agent W. J. Miller, in which the State seeks to impose $12,000,000 penalties on the Ford Motor Co., Gov. Whitfield last night called upon Miller to bring about dismissal of the suit, out of regard to Mississippi's position in the eyes of the world.

The Governor's statement, after declaring that the revenue agent had not consulted with him before filing the suit, contends that "the filing of the suit is fraught with most unfortunate consequence for Mississippi."

"At the very moment when as chief executive of the State, I have been bending every effort to encourage new industries to establish themselves in Mississippi, the press of the nation is proclaiming that 'Mississippi is gunning for damage money' and making war on big business," says Gov. Whitfield's statement.

"I want the world to know that this suit does not reflect the attitude of the State of Mississippi toward legitimate business. I believe that it may even prove a good thing in disguise, for it should serve to make out people realize that Mississippi has come to the parting of the ways."

Adding that the Legislature will convene in regular session before the pending suit can be concluded, Gov. Whitfield declared:

"I shall send a special message to all members of the Legislature by mail within the next 10 days emphasizing the clarifying of the State's attitude toward business enterprises."

"I sincerely hope that the revenue agent will see fit to reconsider most carefully the legal merits of this action under the law as now written, and unless further study and consultation with other eminent attorneys convinces him beyond all doubt that the present statute is being violated and that it is his sworn duty to continue the prosecution, I trust that his sense of fairness and his regard for Mississippi's position in the eyes of the world will lead to its dismissal."

$8000 UNDER PILLOW BURNS

Mrs. Nadine Proctor Injured When Lamp at Bed Is Upset.

Copyright, 1925, by the Press and Publisher Publishing Co. (New York World and Post-Dispatch.)

NICE, May 11.—When Mrs. Nadine Proctor, widow of Percy Proctor, the Cincinnati soap manufacturer, went to bed Saturday night in her chateau, the Petite Russies at Menton, she left a lamp burning beside her bed. Under her pillow was $8000, which she had just received from her lawyer. At midnight she awoke to find the bedclothing in flames and the lamp lying on the floor. Servants quickly answered her screams. She was only slightly burned about the head and arms, but the money, forgotten, was destroyed. Mrs. Proctor formerly was a Russian Countess.

INGROWN NAIL

Turns Right Out Itself

"Outgro" is a harmless antiseptic manufactured for chiropodists. However, anyone can buy from the drug store a tiny bottle containing directions.

A few drops of "Outgro" in the crevice of the ingrowing nail reduces inflammation and pain and so toughens the tender, sensitive skin underneath the toe nail that it cannot penetrate the flesh, and the nail turns naturally outward almost overnight.

THREE GIRLS SITTING ON FENCE BY ROAD HIT BY AUTO

Children, shooting "Hello" to passersby, suddenly hurt when car crashes into railing.

KANSAS CITY, Mo., May 11.—Three little girls perched themselves on a fence on the Victory highway, two miles west of Kansas City, Kan., yesterday afternoon. A steady stream of motor cars poured east and west. The little girls shouted "Hello" to passersby. For them it was a gay Sunday outing. But out of the west hove a dilapidated touring car, carrying five men. As the car hit the stretch guarded by the fence, the driver lost control. There was a crash. Screams turned to moans as 20 feet of the fence was torn down. The three little girls were the victims. Thelma Emma Sloan, 12 years old, was hurled beneath the wreckage of the fence. She is in the Providence Hospital with a fracture of the skull, a broken left leg, cuts and bruises. Mary Misk, 8, also is in the Providence Hospital with a fractured right leg and bruises about the face. Her sister, Louise Misk, 13, was bruised on the face and hands. The car was driven by Simon Zoske, 45, who was arrested and held without bond. Zoske and his companions were intoxicated, according to Sheriff Maher.

St. Louisman Hurt in Auto Crash. BISMARCK, Mo., May 11.—Mrs. A. Maurer and Archie Radford of St. Louis were seriously injured in a head-on automobile collision yesterday near Pilot Knob. They were brought here for surgical treatment.

COURT HALTS GARBAGE DISPOSAL AT ISLAND

Temporary Restraining Order Issued Against Jefferson Co. at St. Genevieve, Mo.

President Kinsey of the Board of Public Service today was notified that an order has been issued by Judge Hutch at St. Genevieve, Mo., temporarily restraining the Jefferson Distributing Co. from disposing of the city's garbage by dumping it on Hog Island. The island is in the Mississippi, near Bricker's Mo., about 46 miles south of St. Louis. Farmers adjacent to the island have complained of the odor.

The Court order further complicates the St. Louis garbage disposal situation. The Jefferson Co. holder of last year's contract, has been continuing the disposal pending the award of another contract. Director of Streets and Sewers Brooks, who has jurisdiction over city garbage, said he did not know what the city would do pending a conference today with officials of the Jefferson Co.

Municipal Inquiry Under Way. Meanwhile, an investigation, ordered by Mayor Miller, of rumors of corruption and bad faith on the part of public officials and private contractors have figured in garbage disposal in the past, is getting under way. The Mayor's letter, published Saturday, will be read tomorrow at the meeting of the Board of Public Service and referred to Director Brooks. It is likely that bidders for recent garbage disposal contracts, and officers of the Municipal Research Bureau, which has criticized the cost of disposal, will be summoned to give any information they have.

One of the rumors is that contractors have dumped garbage into the Mississippi instead of taking it to islands, to be fed to hogs. The city has in its possession photographs which purport to show garbage being dumped into the river from barges of the Klein & Kays Garbage Disposal Co., which held the city contract in 1932.

Brooks and Hornbrook Confer. Director Brooks conferred today with Capt. Hornbrook of the city harbor boat, Erasmus Wells. This boat, occasionally has towed garbage scows downstream, when the regular towboats were not in service.

Circuit Attorney Sidener today said he had no information of law violations in connection with garbage disposal, but would act on any complaint.

Lieutenant Killed in Plane Crash. By the Associated Press. MANILA, May 11.—Lieut. John D. Barrigar was burned to death when his airplane crashed and caught fire near Del Carmen, Pampanga Province, yesterday. Private John Taber, his mechanic, escaped with slight injuries. Barrigar was searching for three artillery soldiers who are lost in the mountains.

Barrigar was flying low when the plane struck a tree. Taber was thrown clear of the plane and landed in a river uninjured, but was seriously burned in attempting to free Barrigar.

LEMON JUICE BEST TO WHITEN SKIN

The only harmless way to bleach the skin white is to mix the juice of two lemons with three ounces of Orchard White, which any drug-gist will supply for a few cents. Shake well in a bottle, and you have a wonderful skin whitener, softener and beautifier.

Massage this sweetly fragrant lemon bleach into the face, neck, arms and hands. It cannot irritate. Famous stage beauties use it to bring that clear, youthful skin and rosy-white complexion; also as a freckle, sunburn and tan bleach. You must mix this remarkable lotion yourself. It cannot be bought ready to use because it acts best immediately after it is prepared.

HART HEAT

THE pleasure of your day's outing will not be marred by anxiety over the necessity of hurrying home to look after the furnace if you have HART HEAT.

That is one of the real, downright enjoyable features of a Hart Oil Burner. You always know that when you return home you are going to step into the same inviting, cozily comfortable place that you left.

Hart Oil Burner owners say they actually forget they have a heating plant in their homes. Cold weather is never a period of discomfort for them at home.

The Hart Oil Burner is also clean and safe. Positive, automatic controls do not permit oil to flow unless it is ignited. Also these same sure controls start operating only when the room temperature falls below whatever point you desire, and likewise shut off when the temperature rises.

For complete freedom from your heating problem, install HART HEAT. We would be glad to estimate on your installation.

FREE 10-Day Tube — Send the Coupon

Maybe your teeth are gloriously clear, simply clouded with a film coat. Make this remarkable test and find out.

The most beautiful teeth in the world

A smile that allures with dazzling whiteness

Do you want them? Then please accept this remarkable dental test—the new method leading dentists are urging. You simply remove the dingy film that clouds teeth and invites gum troubles.

DO you know that "off color" teeth can be restored to dazzling whiteness with but little effort?

This offers you a test that will cost you nothing. Hence, one it's folly not to make.

In a few days it will work a transformation in the color and luster of your teeth—in your whole appearance.

Modern science has discovered new methods in protecting and beautifying teeth and gums. Foremost dentists employ it. The coupon brings you a 10-day tube free.

It's simply a film: remove it—see what a great difference comes

Run your tongue across your teeth, and you will feel a viscous film coat covers them.

That film is an enemy to your teeth—and your gums. You must remove it.

It clings to teeth, gets into crevices and stays. It absorbs discolorations and gives your teeth that cloudy "off-color" look. Germs by the millions breed in it, and they, with tartar, are a chief cause of pyorrhea.

Tooth troubles and gum troubles now are largely traced

Send the Coupon
Make the Test

to that film. Old-time methods fail in successfully combating it. That's why, regardless of the care you take now, your teeth remain dull and unattractive.

New methods remove it.
And Firm the Gums

Now, in a new-type dentifrice called Pepsodent, dental science has discovered effective combatants. Their action is to curdle the film and remove it, then to firm the gums.

Now what you see when that film is removed—the whiteness of your teeth—will amaze you.

Ordinary methods fail in these results. Harsh, gritty substances are judged dangerous to enamel.

Thus the world has turned, largely on dental advice, to this new method.

A few days' use will prove its power beyond all doubt.

Mail the coupon. A 10-day tube will be sent you free.

SHIP OWNERS URGE
NEW MARINE POLICY

Proposes Changes That Will Facilitate Private Operation of Government Fleet.

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, May 11.—Recommendations to make possible the sale of the Government-owned fleet and its successful operation by American companies, laid before President Coolidge by the American Steamship Owners' Association, the Ship Owners' Association of the Pacific and the Pacific American Steamship Co., urge the creation of two special agencies to determine the extent of service to be carried on and the amount of direct national aid through mail pay and other compensation.

Included in these organizations are almost all the owners of ocean-going tonnage under the American flag.

The program made public yesterday favors also reduction of the Shipping Board from seven members to three, and continuance in some form of the Fleet Corporation, under the control of the Secretary of Commerce or a Secretary of Marine, to supervise operation of the essential steamship services pending liquidation.

Reduction in Canal Tolls Advocated. Other recommendations include: Extension of the coastwise laws to the Philippines when the President deems it expedient; exemption of coast trade from Panama Canal tolls; freedom of ships to transfer to foreign registry except in national emergency; reduction in Panama Canal tolls; extension of the present construction loan fund with the stipulation that vessels so benefited must remain in foreign trade until loans are repaid.

The Government is asked to relinquish to privately-owned American ships the carriage of Government supplies and troops in time of peace and to convey all Government officials and employees and all Government cargoes in such vessels.

The Secretary of Commerce, the Postmaster-General, the Secretary of the Navy, the Director of the Budget, and one or two American citizens experienced in shipping would constitute one of the agencies recommended. To the second of these agencies, the chairman of the Shipping Board would be added.

These groups would determine the extent of the services to be carried on by passenger and by cargo ships, essential to national defense and promotion of foreign trade, and also the amount of direct national aid necessary to maintain the mail, passenger and cargo services of the merchant marine in overseas trade.

With these aids the sale of Government ships to private owners would be assured, the associations contend. They recommend that laid-up ships, for which the Government has no present or prospective use, be sold for scrapping and that the better vessels be preserved until they can be sold to American citizens.

Change in Seamen's Act. All present Shipping Board services that are deemed essential, the associations insist should be operated by American citizens, preferably those who have the courage to invest in the shipping business and who are willing to buy the ships operated as soon as possible.

It is also proposed to amend the seamen's act to permit the master of a vessel to refuse to pay wages in a foreign port to any seaman who boarded the ship intoxicated or under the influence of narcotics or who interfered with discipline.

Paying seamen at foreign ports, the recommendations assert, provides a means for the smuggling of narcotics and liquor and often entails heavy penalties upon the ship owner. Since prohibition in the United States, it has become the general practice of seamen to demand their wages immediately upon arrival in a foreign port where liquor can be purchased. It is asserted, with the consequence that the man either desert or return to the ships unable to perform their duties and often render navigation unsafe.

The associations express the belief that if these recommendations are carried out, the maritime interests of the United States will assume an importance that will justify the establishment of a Department of Marine, headed by a member of the Cabinet.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.
SWAMPSCOTT, Mass., May 11.—
When President Coolidge, his family and retinue come to Swampscott early in July they will find White Court, on Little's Point, which has been chosen as the summer White House, is an ideal sanctuary where the President can relax from the arduous cares of state. The stately colonial mansion, overlooking Massachusetts Bay and tucked away in a snug nest of elms, chestnuts and maples, suggests rest and quiet.

The spot is not unknown to the President and Mrs. Coolidge, nor to Master John. Adjoining White Court is Red Gables, the summer home of Frank W. Stearns, the President's close friend and adviser. At Red Gables President
Coolidge has been a frequent guest.
Within a few short months of his being advanced into the Executive Mansion as the head of the nation the Coolidges had enjoyed the hospitality of Mr. Stearns. The spot holds a warm place in the President's heart.

White Court, although not a show place, is one of the most beautiful of the numerous summer homes along the North Shore of Massachusetts. It derives its name from the wide court on the rear approach from the main highway, and its color, the mansion being painted pure white. It is a spacious dwelling containing 11 rooms, with sun parlors and a wide veranda surrounding three sides of the house.

Close to City.
Although secluded, the place is within 15 miles of Boston; it is only four miles from Lynn, and Salem is nearby. The North Shore is the summer vacation ground for the wealthy, for the tired man of affairs and for those who love nature.

While the President is coming primarily for a rest, his office will make many demands upon him.
With this in view a more suitable spot could not have been selected, as every facility for the conducting of necessary business is at hand.

The President will occupy a suite of rooms on the first floor for executive offices.

The President, Mrs. Coolidge and their son will have a suite of living rooms on the second floor overlooking the bay. Already workmen are preparing the place for their coming.

For the President's leisure hours there is ample opportunity for diversion. The calm waters of the bay provide facilities for bathing, boating and fishing. The level highways will be scenes of automobile rides, and the President knows all the beautiful drives of this section. There are good golf courses and tennis courts for those of the party who wish this sort of sport.

Eastern Point, the Nahant home of the late Senator Lodge, can be seen from White Court and at night the twinkling lights of the ocean channel leading to the port of Boston, guiding incoming steamships, add to the attractiveness of the place.

At the Myopia Hunt Club, in Hamilton, less than ten miles away, the President and his party will have opportunity of seeing some fast polo matches, as the club will stage games preliminary to the annual championship matches in Philadelphia in September. During his recent visit to the North Shore the Prince of Wales was a guest at the club and rode to the hounds there.

Yacht Races Frequent.
Marblehead, the mecca for yachtsmen in the summer months, will also have its attractions for the President and his party. The yacht races, which are almost daily events during July and August, attract large crowds, who view them from motor launches and the shore.
The Coolidges will get the best view of these events from the deck of the Mayflower, which will be anchored off Rockers Point during the period that the summer capital is established here.

The President's near neighbors on the Point will include for the most part Boston folk. Elmwood,

the summer residence of Charles Proctor of Boston is just across the lawn, and The Monastery, occupied by his brother, Dr. Frank Proctor of Brookline, is on the rocky cliffs overlooking the water's edge.
Grasshead, the home of Richard Mittin of Boston, and Shingle-sides, the summer place of Charles H. Brush of Boston, are adjoining properties on the east.

APPEALS FOR LEPER FUND

Gen. Wood Asks America for Aid in Raising $1,000,000.

By the Associated Press.
HONOLULU, May 11.—Gov.-Gen.
Leonard Wood has issued a statement appealing to America for assistance in the campaign to raise $1,000,000 in behalf of the Philippine lepers.

"Throughout the world there is a deep, widespread interest in the treatment and care of lepers," the Governor-General said. "England already has organized the British Empire Anti-Leprosy Society and is arranging for a widespread and effective campaign against the dreaded disease in India and elsewhere.
The Philippines have about 12,000 lepers of which more than 6,000 are segregated and under treatment.
We need your help. The American people ever have been generous in supporting a movement of this kind and I appeal to their generosity in behalf of these stricken people."

GAS, the fuel of science, is today the modern fuel of industry.

Every day, as its many great advantages become increasingly apparent, plant engineers turn to Gas, the super-fuel, for heat.

For Gas is the ally of quality production. It is the direct route to plant efficiency. It cuts down the time required by old methods, thereby increasing production and decreasing overhead. It provides a uniformity of product that is an everlasting joy to the production manager.

The flow of Gas is easily regulated to follow any predetermined heat curve. And Gas is smokeless, sootless, ashless, dirtless—all heat—no waste. It is a boon to the shop—to the workers—to the management. It is paid for after use—not before.

If you are an industrial heat user our industrial gas engineers have a message for you. It may be the means of instituting the year's greatest saving at your plant. Write, phone or call.

BROWNS' PENNANT HOPES FADE AS PITCHING STAFF FALTERS

Decrepit Yanks Score 26 Runs in Three Games Off Pick of Sisler's Staff

Gaston's Showing Saturday Only Hurling Effort That Approached Mid-Season Efficiency—Wingard, Vangilder and Others Mauled in Third Game.

By Dent McSkimming
If the Browns' pitching doesn't improve in a hurry, the club will be so far back of the leaders that no sort of a mid-season spurt will get them anywhere. Yesterday, Wingard, Grant, Stauffer, Falk and Vangilder all failed in their professional mission, that of fooling the opposing batters. The Yanks slapped base hits to all corners of Sportsman's Park and won, 13 to 1.

In three games of the present series with the so-called decrepit New York club, the Browns have been smothered under an avalanche of 26 runs while they were themselves pitching just two. Not one pitcher is giving outright hurling for the team today.

In the last seven games, all played on the home field, the Browns pitchers have been hammered for an average of nine runs per game. All were not earned runs, but in the main the fielding was good.

Wingard Lasts Three Innings.
Ernie Wingard, who has at times looked like one of the best pitchers in the American League, lasted less than three innings yesterday. Left-handed and right-handed batters alike hit his curve and his fast ball to the fence—and over.

Yesterday's defeat made it impossible for the Browns to gain an even break in the series of four games for New York won the opener and threw the second game. The final will be played this afternoon with Sam Jones scheduled to oppose Dave Danforth.

With their hope of victory destroyed in the very first inning, when two of the visitors hit home runs, the 15,000 Browns fans devoted their attention to the attempt of Sisler to hit safely. In his first trip to the plate he drew a walk. In the third inning he forced Joe Evans.

Sisler Makes Two.
In the fifth, when he came up again, the situation was growing interesting for should he fail he would get but one more opportunity to hit and maintain his unbroken streak. He swung lustily and drove a line single between Juggan and Waininger and gave the fans something to raise their voices over.

Again in the seventh Sisler slammed a line single to right field. It was just possible that the runner they have craved in their series here may straighten the Yankees out and bring them back up in the race. Yesterday Herb Pennock looked as good as ever. So did Shocker look wonderful in the first game of the series, and although Hoyt did not win Saturday's game, he pitched good ball. In three games the Yanks have used but three pitchers and have held the Browns to two runs.

Pennock Strong in Pitching.
Pennock was in difficulty several times yesterday, but he appeared to be in control. He pitched well and his fast ball was a real asset.

Promoter Packs Trying to Sign Zbyszko to Meet Greek May 30.

Stanislaus Zbyszko is still determined to avoid risking his heavyweight wrestling title in a finish match with Joe Stecher, according to a dispatch received last night from Tom Pack, local promoter who followed the champion from St. Louis to Chicago and thence to Springfield, Mass., last week in an effort to sign him for a match with Stecher on Decoration Day.

Packs evidently has failed to tempt Zbyszko with a purse guarantee, judging by the contents of his telegram which intimated that the promoter had about decided to switch his plans for the Decoration Day bout, Jimmy London, the Greek champion, will probably be accorded a chance to match Zbyszko with the venerable Pole if Zbyszko persists in his refusal to meet Stecher.

Rhem, Day and Hallahan Look Good Against Giants; Rickeymen Due to Climb

McGraw's Men Find Rookie Hurlers Tough Picking for Six Innings, Then Lady Luck Intervenes on Side of New Yorkers—St. Louisans Idle Today.

By G. W. Daley.

Of the New York World Sport Staff.

NEW YORK, May 11.—In the matter of young pitchers Branch Rickey pressed his luck a little too far, yesterday. After the stunning performance of Flint Rhem in shutting out the Giants Saturday he expected to repeat with "Pea Ridge" Day, and the result was a second hard-luck beating in a hard-luck series for a team which already has had its fill of hard luck.

The one thing comforting to St. Louis supporters about the game yesterday and the two games which preceded it is that the Rickey pitching has improved. On the basis of three games played here it seems certain to continue good. No man needs better box work than Rickeyman gave on Friday. Rhem shut out the Giants on Saturday and on Sunday Day and Hallahan in an out of eight innings yesterday. If these young men continue the way they have begun the Cardinals will do better as the season grows older and the really smart sluggers begin to hit.

Lock favors the Giants. While the New Yorkers were cheering over the fact that they had knocked Day out of the box, yesterday, close observers were of the opinion that the victory of the Cardinals was more or less tinged with luck. There was no attempt made by the Cardinals to blame the umpires for their shortcomings, but it is a fact that on one questionable decision at the plate and one slipshod bit of fielding by Jim Bottomley the Giants built up four runs for a lead in one case, and four more for the clinching of the contest in the second.

The Giants made all their runs in the third and seventh innings, and in each case made them with two men out. Two happenings in the third and the eighth caused all the damage to two hard-working Cardinals pitchers. They might happen to any pitcher. They are part of the "breaks" of the game and are simply cited to encourage the Cardinal fans.

Day had gone along nicely for six innings. The Giants had done nothing to frighten him. He was using the wide curve and change of pace with which any good pitcher can both the champions. He pitched to Gowdy to open the third and went to the "three and two" count. The sixth pitch was a fast ball high and over the outside corner of the plate. Behind the McCormack, the umpire, called it a ball and Gowdy took his base. The first base on balls given by Day in 30 innings. It could have been called a strike. If it had been there would have been no runs in the inning. For Bentley, the first batter panned to Hornsby and the second flew to center. That would have made three out.

And then the fun began. As it turned out, Frisch walked up with Gowdy on first and rattled a single to center on which Gowdy made second. Young took a ball and a strike and then singled to right, and on a muffed up relay which went all the way round after Gowdy and tied the score, the Cardinals having made two runs in the first half of the inning.

Day seemed to rattle Day, and did what many a pitcher does in the midst of a batting rally—tried to beat the batter. He apparently possessed the idea of striking over a strike on Kelly, and curved over a ball in the middle of the plate. Kelly planted in the left field stands. Kelly would have hit a home run. Just as quickly, Frisch was up under the "foghorn" system and ready to make a charge on anything within arm's reach.

The same thing happened to Hallahan in the seventh. By the way, there were nothing but good words for Hallahan along the New York benches last night. They were his earnestness, the nice break of his curve and his change of pace. Frisch had escaped in the seventh for a twist in the neck. Frisch was first up and he allowed Hall down the first base line. It wasn't hard hit and bounded high into the air, but for some reason Bentley, who stood in front of it and made a fair trial, let it get away. The ball rolled lazily along the base line and before Hall and the first baseman could get to it, Frisch had made second.

Young Kelly were next up, which Kelly hit the first ball. Hallahan, however, was known, that man-hungry stretch was on again, and he fed Left high into the air over the heart of the plate and Runners on first and third. Batter tries to bunt but the ball hits him (1) in the market, might be on the play—C. H. A. Cardinal Fan. (2) Not unless it is his third strike.

(3) Yes, if they can make it.

I do not understand the "draft system" by which Lamotte and Shinnery were secured. Will you please give the purpose and method of this institution?—Louis Jones, 6068 Maple avenue.

The draft system is designed to give the minor league player a chance to advance to the major leagues. Each club in the minor leagues subscribing to the draft agreement must give up one player each year if a major league club pays a salary of $50,000 or more. The draft is held in St. Louis, Mo., and the players are drafted in order of their value. The draft is a very important part of the baseball business.

Cards on Upward Trend.

Otherwise the Cards are blooming. They feel that they will do better. They made ten hard hits off Bentley and except for three double plays which helped the Baltimore left-hander, they might have made a lot more runs. There won't be any game today, as at the time the boys are going to the Jamaica track or take in a golf match. Tomorrow is another day and with the pitching there is a chance to even up the series.

CENTURY AND ST. LOUIS OARSMEN WINNERS IN OPENING REGATTA

Century Boat Club and St. Louis Rowing Club crews divided honors in two events which composed the North End Rowing Club regatta in the Mississippi yesterday. COLOGNE, Germany, May 11.—Jack Taylor of Omaha, Neb., a light heavyweight, yesterday gained the decision in the international boxing match here over the German, Max Schmiedel. He won on points in 10 rounds.

Prove Feature in Municipal League

Four of Five Tilts in City Circuit Are Decided by One-Run Margin.

Close games featured the weekly round of the Municipal Baseball League in the public parks yesterday. In several of the circuits the leadership was determined.

Especially in the City League were the contests close. Four of the five games played were decided by one-run margins. The Lischko Indians and St. Casimire are sharing the lead, while the Carbons dropped to second place as a result of a 6-3 defeat at the hands of the Lischko nine.

The Metelos went into first place in the Independent League by beating the Polish Falcons, 7 to 1. The Falcons and the Metelos shared the lead until yesterday. The victory was the third straight for the winners. Another feature was the comeback of the Shell team, which smothered the Motorbus nine, 7 to 2.

Typo Wins Another. The Typo and Y. M. H. A. nine continued in the lead in the Empire League, defeating La Salle A. C. and Wiles-Chippman, respectively. Similarly, in the Mercantile circuit, the Donnelly Stars and Southwests, by virtue of wins over Dau and Rock Island, remained tied for the lead.

In the Polish Alliance St. Andrews shut out the St. Louis, 14 to 0, and took first place. Columbus Club kept up its fast pace of the past two weeks and won from Kalm Council, 3 to 1. In the K. of C. League, Kilmahady's doubling in the eighth brought in the winning run.

SENNA STARS IN WEEKLY ROUND OF MUNICIPAL HORSE SHOE LEAGUE

The Curries, by winning 14 out of 16 games from the Sunsets, while the Buster Browns were dropping six out of 16 games to the Southwests, increased their lead in the Municipal Horseshoe Pitchers League yesterday at Fairground Park to six full games. The Angelos, by splitting even in the match with the Wet Wash Kids moved into a tie for third place.

Fred Senna of the Curries, who holds the Missouri State and city horseshoe championship, for the second straight week averaged better than 40 per cent ringers and again led all of the players by tossing 47 ringers out of 113 shoes for an average of 42.

Ed Kunz, also of the Curries team, ranked second in ringer average by getting 49 out of 134 shoes for an average of 36. Kunz also equaled his best record, having established last season by scoring 30 points in eight innings or 16 shoes, nine of the shoes pitched being ringers, for an average of 55.

Will Kelly of the Buster Browns ranked third high with 51 ringers out of 130 shoes for an average of 39. G. Rathke of the Southwests by getting 53 ringers out of 180 shoes averaged 29.

Three Events Scheduled.

Three tournaments will be held at the Washington alleys this week. The first duck pin event of the season will be rolled Friday night. The event will be three games total pins to count, with an entry fee of $1. An individual ten-pin tournament will be rolled Saturday and a two-man event Sunday night.

GLO-CO

LIQUID HAIR DRESSING

That well-groomed look! It's a mark of success, and a reason why business men everywhere use Glo-Co every morning. It keeps the hair in place all day.

There's nothing finer, or stickier about Glo-Co. It's a liquid, making the hair soft so you can comb it any way you like. Moreover, it's good for the scalp. Stimulates the hair to new growth and keeps dandruff away.

Dandruff is the forerunner of baldness. If you have it, watch out. Take a Glo-Co treatment each week. Apply Glo-Co Dressing to the scalp to soften the dandruff, then wash with Glo-Co Shampoo. The cleansing, anti-septic lather frees the scalp from every trace of dandruff and bacteria.

After the shampoo, comb your hair with Glo-Co Dressing to keep it in place.

Sold at drug stores and barber shops. Send 10c for samples of both.

Thirty-Foot Patt Wins 54-Hole

Golf Match That Lasted 3 Days

Dr. Haverstick's Brilliant Effort on Final Hole Beats H. C. Ball in Sunset Context That Seemed Destined to Go to Another Tie.

Although three of the best golfers in the St. Louis district, Clarence Wolff, Bill Medart and Elliott Whitbread, were winning their way to the semifinal round of the Sunset Hill handicap golf tournament, Saturday, the most interesting match of the week was the three-day 54-hole struggle between Dr. E. E. Haverstick and H. C. Ball, in Class A.

The tournament is an 18-hole affair, and the conditions make it necessary to play off ties by going another 18-hole round. Thus, when, late Wednesday, Dr. Haverstick and H. C. Ball were all square after 18 holes, they agreed to meet on the same course Friday and play another 18 holes. Because of the fact that the tournament is a handicap affair, it is impossible to play off a tie by playing a single selected hole. The handicap is based upon the full 18.

When the pair reached No. 15, on Friday afternoon, Dr. Haverstick was four up. It appeared that Ball was sure to lose. However, he played sound golf and won every remaining hole to square the match on No. 18. Thus, after 36 holes they were still tied.

The struggle was resumed Saturday. Again, upon reaching No. 14, Dr. Haverstick had a lead of 3 up. Ball, playing par golf, soon 14 and 17. That made Dr. Haverstick 1 up and 1 to go. Ball had to win No. 18 to square the match. Ball's drive cleared the reservoir and rolled up the fairway. Dr. Haverstick's drive was sliced, and the branch of a tree, bounded onto the concrete reservoir and hopped over the water, onto the fairway. Ball was on the green in 2, but Dr. Haverstick was in a bunker with his second. His chip shot out of the sand fell at the edge of the green, 30 feet from the cup. Ball sank his putt for a par 4 and there was no question in the minds of the spectators that the match would again be squared and another 18 holes made necessary.

Strike 36-Foot Putt to Win. But, after a careful survey of the green, Dr. Haverstick struck boldly for the cup and his ball went true for the hole. He sank his 36-foot putt, halved the hole in par 4, winning the 54-hole match.

Each had a medal score of 92 for the final round.

Championship Class.

C. L. Wolff defeated Dr. E. E. Haverstick, 4 to 3. H. C. Ball defeated H. L. Gilman, 4 to 3. H. C. Ball defeated E. G. Simpson, 4 to 3.

Class A.

G. U. Bush defeated Dr. H. L. Nier, 2 to 1. A. N. Engle defeated E. P. Wagoner, 1 to 0. J. B. Bohn defeated C. P. Whitbread, 1 to 0. J. K. Florin defeated Dr. C. F. Dick, 4 to 3. A. C. Morton and H. N. Goodell, all square at 18.

Class B.

C. K. Stacks defeated Dr. E. H. Haverstick, 3 to 2. L. E. Finney defeated J. H. Converse, 1 to 0. C. K. Stacks defeated G. B. Faison by default.

10,000 PARISIANS OBSERVE
FETE OF JOAN OF ARC

Special Cable to the Post-Dispatch and the Chicago Daily News. Copyright 1918. PARIS, May 11.—The Parisians yesterday eluded the Government's order prohibiting any kind of procession on the occasion of the national fete of Joan of Arc, by making up 10,000 separate little delegations to lay wreaths and flowers before the statue of the Maid of Orleans.

The reason for the Government's measure was fear of clashes between Royalists and communists. In the present tension of political feeling, it was thought best not to permit any manifestation.

But the Government organized a big military demonstration of its own to do honor to the memory of Joan. Premier Poincaré, with several Generals, attended a ceremony in front of Joan's statue in the Rue des Pyramides, with troops marching past and bands playing.

The police orders were, "No delegation bigger than five persons." The Parisians improvised such delegations, each being carefully organized; and the result was that 10,000 persons, more than ever before, filed past the statue. The procession, which was not a procession, took all morning and part of the afternoon to pass the monument.

A number of attempts in other parts of the city to form corteges of Royalists were frustrated by police. There were a few clashes and a number of persons, including a priest, were arrested. Gen. De Castelnau, former Chief of the General Staff was one of those who came into contact with the police, and La Liberté asserts he was beaten by plain clothesmen.

FRENCH SMOKERS REVIVE

PIPE COLORING INDUSTRY

By the Associated Press. PARIS, May 11.—Pipe coloring as an industry has been revived in Paris, with the opening of a pipe coloring shop near the Odéon Theatre. Here professional pipe adepts undertake to smoke a new pipe until the harshness of the wood is burned out, or until a merschaum has reached the desired color.

The industry became almost extinct before the war owing to decrease of pipe smoking. Revival of the pipe custom was one of the minor results of the war, and prominent pipe adherents, such as Vice President Dawes, ex-Premier Herriot and Prime Minister Baldwin have helped to maintain its popularity.

Pipe coloring was fashionable under the second empire and there were many establishments similar to that recently opened near the Odéon. Professional pipe smokers took at the rate of 20 centimes per pipe plus the necessary merschaum. A real one, and a hard worker could color four or five pipes daily, making an income of from 80 centimes to one franc a day.

This income allowed a man to live quite comfortably in those days, especially as the professional smoker often complained of a lack of appetite for food.

Kinsman of Coolidge Dies. MINNEAPOLIS, Minn., May 11.—Marshall S. Coolidge, 64 years old, a kinsman of President Coolidge and a manufacturer and lumberman identified with the business affairs of Minneapolis for 30 years, died yesterday following a long illness. Coolidge was a descendant of John Coolidge, who came to America from England in 1630, and three of his ancestors fought in the battle of Bunker Hill. His father was born in Hillsborough, N. H., in the region where Calvin Coolidge spent his boyhood. His father moved to Wisconsin at the close of the Civil War.

The Railroads Run Every Day in the Year - And in All Kinds of Weather

During these beautiful Spring days, when the sun is bright and the weather warm, remember that the railroads of the country rendered exceptional freight and passenger service all during the winter, when snow was on the ground, roads impassable, and weather conditions hampered every other mode of transportation.

A great many Americans have come to look on the railroads as something to be taken for granted, and to lack appreciation of the extraordinary service rendered to the Nation as a whole, and to each individual community, by the great rail transportation systems.

Operating for the past four years on a property investment net return less by over one billion dollars than that allowed by law, the railroads of this country are delivering a more efficient freight and passenger service than ever in their history. They deserve both your patronage and your good-will.

Get Your Car!

This sign in the windows of the dealers is an indication of special inducements on sales made this week. In many instances lower prices, easier terms and other considerations will be offered.

"USED CAR WEEK" is an opportunity to buy a good used automobile at an attractive price, and on easy terms.

Dealers want to clear their floors of used cars to make room for new ones that are arriving daily from the factories.

To crowd a month's average selling into one week reduces selling costs and enables dealers to pass along the worth-while savings to buyers who close deals this week.

Look TODAY in the classified "Automobiles" columns of the Post-Dispatch and select your car. Don't let some one else snap up the bargain that appeals to you.

PRINCE IN SIERRA LEONE

STARTLES PARIS

FORDS FOR RAILWAY TRUCKS

Ford cars in Sweden turned into these highly economical railway trucks used for short hauls. They can carry a load of 3½ tons at average speed of 25 miles per hour over the rails.
